U.S. PRESSES FOR CENSURE OF 3 BALKANS

Wants UN To Officially Condemn Greek Neighbors as Authors of Disturbance.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 9—The United States, apparently certain of victory in its fight for a United Nations "watchdog" commission in the Balkans, made plain today its intention to press for UN condemnation of three Soviet satellites accused of responsibility for Greece's border troubles.

An American spokesman declared that U. S. delegation would deviate from its position only if the three accused nations—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria—officially agreed to cooperate with the border commission, which was approved by the UN's 57-nation political commission late yesterday by a 34 to 6 vote.

The spokesman added that the three nations had made it evident they had no intention of complying—an assertion to which Bulgarian Delegate Boris Athanassov gave weight by telling interviewers:

"They (the U.S.) have the majority and can keep voting resolutions. They can decide this wall is black if they want to. This is a maneuver. It is railroading a proposal. It is a horse trade and we refuse to take part in it."

Awaits Final Approval

The vote on the Greek border watch came as the political committee balloted clause by clause on United States' proposal for preserving peace in the Balkans. The committee's decisions will go to the assembly for final approval after it completes action on the U. S. proposals, but this was generally regarded as little more than a formality inasmuch as the committee is composed of representatives of the same 57 nations which make up the assembly.

Russia, which has demanded that the UN find Greece to blame for the border conflict, cannot veto the proposals in the assembly because the veto applies only in the 11-nation security council.

In yesterday's vote on the border watch commission, Russia was supported in the opposition only by White Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Nine nations, including the Arab bloc and Sweden, Norway and Denmark, abstained. The oher members did not vote.

Vote Comes Suddenly

The first vote on the Balkans case came suddenly in yesterday's meeting after days of debate. It came so fast that the clause defining the personnel for the commission was left over for decision today along with the controversial section of finding Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria guilty.

Before the session ended, the United States proposed an 11-nation commission composed of the United States, Russia, Britain, France, China, Mexico, Poland, Brazil, The Netherlands, Australia and Pakistan. Colombia countered with a list including Columbia, Brazil, Belgium, Australia, Poland and Syria.

The vote came after Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, charged the U. S. was threatening the three countries with an "ultimatum." He accused the United States of "cowardice" in this respect.

The special 57-nation committee on Palestine, meanwhile, idled along waiting for United States and Russian policy declarations. A top state department official was reported authoritatively to have told a UN delegate that the U. S. would favor a plan for partitioning the Holy Land "with perhaps a few modifications."

No Hint of U. S. Policy

There still was no hint of U. S. Palestine policy from Secretary of State Marshall or any of his aides, and delegation press officers refused to even discuss the prspects with reporters. The only information available was that a speech probably would be made on Saturday by Herschel V. Johnson, the regular delegate in the committee.

On the long-hanging question of finding a governor for the free territory of Triesie, Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan summoned American, Russian and French delegates to meet with him today in private session to study a proposal that the choice be left up to Yugoslavia and Italy. If the major powers agree on the plan, it will be put up to the security council for approval.

Word that the deadlock between the Soviet Ukraine and India over the security council seat to be vacated Dec. 31 by Poland still existed came in an announcement by the UN that there would be no plenary session of the assembly this week. The full body was expected to resume voting on the election only when some off-the-

BLOODHOUND FINDS LOST TOT. Eyes rigid with fright, three-year-old Louis Dunton stares at the bloodhound which found him Wednesday in dense woods, near Fitzwilliam, N. H. after the tot was lost for eight hours. Bill Greene of Orford, N.H. holds harness of "Queenie," a few seconds after lost child was sighted in woods and before tot had been taken up by his rescuers. The child had removed his clothes during the night. Scout Pilgrimage To Harding Memorial To Be Held Sunday

The sixteenth annual pilgrimage to the shrine of President Harding, sponsored by Harding Area council of Boy Scouts will be held Sunday, according to the final plans announced today.

More than 900 Boy Scouts representing troops from the four districts in Marion, Morrow, Wyandot and Crawford counties are expected to join the pilgrimage.

Col. John E. McMahon of Columbus, executive officer from the Ohio military district, will serve as President Truman's representative and will lay the presidential wreath at the Harding tomb.

A parade will be held at 2 p. m. and will include all Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts, members of the Harding High school band and special guests. Participants will mobilize at 1:30 p. m. at Central Junior High school recreation field at West Center and Oak street. The units will go into formation at 2 o'clock and the parade will move at 2:30 sharp.

Line of March

Line of March will be east on Center to Main street, south on Main to Delaware avenue and south to the Harding tomb.

Joseph Bingham will serve as grand marshal with Jim Wanner, Eagle Scout of Troop 5, sponsored by the American Legion Post No. 162. Dr. Robert T. Gray, president of the Harding Area, will be master of ceremonies.

The program at the memorial will open with band music and the sounding of assembly by Harding band trumpeters under the direction of Homer Huffman. The massing of the units will be to the trumpet selection "To the Colors" followed by the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner." Dean Drake, Life Scout of Troop 15, sponsored by the Emmanuel Lutheran church, will lead the group in the pledge to the flag. Repeating of the Scout oath will be led by Dick Bracy, Troop 3, sponsored by Epworth Methodist church.

Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, will give the invocation. The laying of the wreaths will follow. Col. McMahon will lay the presidential wreaths on the tomb of the late President Harding followed by the Girl Scouts placing a wreath on Mrs. Harding's grave. Final wreath will be placed on the tomb by the Boy Scouts. Rev. Faulkner will close with benediction followed by taps sounded by Wallace Musgrave, Life Scout of Troop 15, Emmanuel Lutheran church.

To Serve Refreshments

Refreshments will be served all Scouts, Cubs and leaders immediately following the ceremonies at the memorial. Due to the illness of J. Fred Dombaugh, director of the Harding home on Mt. Vernon avenue, the refreshments will be served on the memorial grounds instead of the late home as was previously announced.

A Girl Scout tea will be held for all Brownies, Girl and Senior Scouts and their leaders at the Epworth Methodist church on East Center street. The tea will start immediately upon their return from the pilgrimage.

Pilgrimage committee headed by Charlton Myers, includes Hugh F. Hay, Scout executive, Earl Andrews, Al Hamburg and Merle Hamilton.

RITES HELD FOR GIRL KILLED IN MISHAP

Name of Hit-Skip Driver Still Unknown to Police.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 9—Funeral services were held this afternoon for Julia Ann Chamberlain, 7, victim of a hit-skip traffic accident near Espy school Tuesday noon. Local law officers admitted today they have insufficient evidence to warrant holding any individual in connection with the death of the girl.

Furthermore, Police Chief Clarence Sheldon today killed rumors that anyone is being held in custody. "We are holding no one," he said. "There is not sufficient evidence at hand to warrant our holding anybody yet in this case."

Meanwhile, Cpl. B. P. Hughes of the state highway patrol, first to question a woman suspect in the reported "hit-skip" accident, was quoted in Bellefontaine as saying that the woman he questioned admitted she thought her car had struck a pasteboard box in Kenton. Cpl. Hughes said the woman told him she was a Kenton nurse.

Local authorities continued their search for more evidence today, and expect to be able to question the woman driver when she returns to Kenton within the next day or two, Chief Sheldon said.

Authorities stated that no person in the vicinity of the accident had been able to make an identification of the automobile or of the driver.

Services for the victim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Chamberlain, were held at 2 o'clock in Epworth Methodist church, with Rev. Edward Jones officiating. Burial was to be later this afternoon in Rushsylvania cemetery.

CHILE EXPELS SLAVS ACCUSED OF "PLOT"

By The Associated Press

SANTIAGO, CHILE, Oct. 9—Two Yugoslav diplomats, accused by the Chilean government of fomenting, on orders from home, a Communist campaign against the United States and hemisphere solidarity, were expelled from Chile last night.

An official statement said the two men—Andrej Cunja, Yugoslav charge d'affaires, and Dalibor Jakasa, secretary of the Yugoslav legation in Buenos Aires, a visitor in Santiago—were acting for the new Communist international headquarters in Belgrade and had received instructions to:

▶Intensify and coordinate a campaign against the United States of America in order to induce the greater democratic elements to join Soviet strategy against the western democracies.

▶Attack the policy of continental defense.

▶Develop a plan of sabotage of production, either by means of slowing work or causing strikes

DISTILLING BAN SEEMS CERTAIN

2-Month Closing, About Oct. 25, Awaits Ironing Out of Mechanical Details.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—A two-month holiday from the distilling of liquor to save upwards of 10,000,000 bushels of grain for Europe was in prospect today, beginning about Oct. 25.

Joseph A. Engelhard of Louisville, president of the Distilled Spirits institute, said "it is just a question of mechanics" to work out the date for the shutdown asked by President Truman and his Citizens Food committee.

Charles Luckman, food committee chairman, turns his attention next to the beer and ale makers.

Brewers To Meet

Brewing industry representatives will meet in Chicago tomorrow to discuss possible savings and will give Luckman their answer probably early next week.

Luckman said he had no doubt that the liquor industry will get together on the shutdown despite some uncertainty which developed at a conference on the plan yesterday.

Thirty-nine companies were represented at the conference. After a two and one-half hour discussion, 18 voted in favor of the shutdown. The remaining 21 firms abstaining from voting, saying they wanted to confer further with their directors or stockholders.

Luckman said all the major distilleries were represented, but he declined to say how any individual company voted.

From agricultural leaders, meanwhile, came a promise of complete cooperation in the effort to conserve grain on the farms, where huge quantities are used as livestock and poultry feed.

A pledge of "100 per cent cooperation" was given to Mr. Truman by heads of the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau federation and the National Council of Farm Cooperatives.

With the campaign to find grain picking up steam, an influential member of congress said something must be done soon about raising the $580,000,000 the President has asked to carry western Europe through the winter.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) of the house foreign affairs committee told a reporter congress should meet in December to consider the problem.

ASHLEY MAN HURT BY FALL IN SILO

Arlington Lynn Suffers Fractured Leg and Crushed Foot.

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, O., Oct. 9—Arlington "Chuck" Lynn, 45, was taken to White Cross hospital, Columbus, yesterday after suffering injuries when he fell at 4 p. m. into a silo on his farm three miles northwest of here.

Mr. Lynn had placed a plank from a filled silo across to the empty one, preparing to fill it with fodder. While walking across the board, it tipped and dropped him 28 feet to a cement floor. He landed on his feet and suffered a fractured left leg and crushed bones in the right foot.

Two neighbors working with him were William Reichardt, working inside the silo, and William Strait, stationed outside. Mr. Lynn, taken to Columbus in the C. R. Lee ambulance, was accompanied by his physician who stayed with him at the hospital last night.

FINDLAY POLICE SHOOT GUNMAN

Escapee Wounded in Church After Using Minister as Shield.

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 9—A gunman, identified as Leonard Johnson, 29, of Detroit, was wounded today by police after he escaped from the police station and held them off for more than an hour by threatening to kill Rector John Evans Knox of Trinity Episcopal church.

The gunman and a companion, identified as Lindell Brown, 29, of Granville, Ky., were taken to the police station for questioning by two officers.

Shortly after they arrived, Brown's companion drew a revolver from his coat, brandished it before Desk Sgt. Glen Hardy and shouted:

"I'm getting out of there."

Shove Suspect In Cell

Two other officers quickly shoved Brown into a cell block, and the gunman sprinted down an alley without attempting to rescue Brown.

Officers began running after the fugitive and, after he had traveled two blocks, he noticed Mr. Knox, a Navy chaplain in World War II, standing outside the church.

He jammed the gun into the pastor's ribs, ordered him into the church and warned police: "I'll kill him if you try and capture me."

Police surrounded the church, and radioed the highway patrol for aid. State Patrolman R. C. Vanderveen was the first to arrive.

Eases Into Church

He took off his shoes, and gun in hand, eased into the church vestibule, and began crawling toward the gunman and Mr. Knox, who were near the front of the church.

Vanderveen said that as he neared them, he saw a chance to risk a shot. The bullet missed, but Knox grappled with the gunman as Vanderveen ran forward. The gunman twisted away, they said, and Vanderveen shot again—this time striking the fugitive in the back.

He was taken to the hospital, but attaches, after a preliminary examination, said the wound was not serious, and that he probably would be out of the hospital "in a few days."

HEARING ON GALION INJUNCTION RESUMES

North Electric Co. Case Heard in Bucyrus This Afternoon.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 9—The hearing on the petition by the North Electric company of Galion for an injunction against the UAW-CIO was to continue this afternoon in Crawford county common pleas court before Judge Ralph Sugrue of Tiffin.

Judge Sugrue last Friday adjourned further hearing on the company petition until 2 p. m. today. An attempt by the judge to effect a settlement through conferences with both company and union officials proved fruitless at that time. The Galion plant has been strikebound since August 20. The North Electric company plant at Mt. Gilead closed by the company when the strike occurred at Galion has been since reopened following issuance of a restraining order granted the North company in Morrow county common pleas court against the UAW and its organizers from interfering with employes at Mt. Gilead. The third company plant at Kenton has been unaffected by the strike.

UAW Representative Edward Duck who has been conducting the strike at Galion announced today that his union would file suit against the company probably this week charging "unfair labor practices."

The suit Duck said would specifically cite the North Electric company vice president, Lloyd Bender, and Mt. Gilead plant manager, Hoy Rhodebeck. The suit would be based on alleged threats to discharge company employes for union activities and threatening to close down the plant at Mt. Gilead if employes joined the union, according to the UAW representative.

BRAZIL'S FIRST LADY DIES

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANERO, Oct. 9—Senora Carmela Dutra, wife of the president of Brazil, died shortly before midnight last night of complications following an operation for appendicitis. Mrs Dutra, who was 62, had been in ill health for more than a year.

Automatic Flight Experiments Planned with Army Jet Planes

By JAMES STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Reporter

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 9—Air force experts already are planning automatic flight experiments with jet fighters and larger transports now that the push button system has proved itself in an 8,000-mile, round trip to England.

Officials from Wright field and the Clinton county air base here are unwilling to discuss such projects, but they acknowledged their existence today after the C-54 Skymaster had successfully completed the final leg from Stephenville, N. F., 1,500 miles away.

The C-54, second in the series of push button planes, is unique in that it combines all the mechanical applications of control available in planes of that type.

Performs Sequence

Officials regard it as an interesting specimen because it has been rigged through an electronic brain to perform in proper sequence all flight steps from takeoff to landing.

However, experts such as Col. Benjamin S. Kelsey, who fathered the project, say its true value is that parts of the system, as well as the entire combination can be used to meet specific problems.

One problem now being studied is application of the automatic control to approach and landing procedure for jet planes. This is a critical problem of jets, because their fuel supply usually requires that once they have started down they must continue to a landing. Automatic flight could improve on human performance as well as relieve the pilot of considerable strain.

Some phases of the automatic flight system could be used in very large planes—like the giant B-36 bomber and the Boeing C-97 stratofreighter which are being readied for the air force—to handle operations which might be critical unless done with mechanical precision.

Retracts Landing Gear

One of the things it could do is retract the landing gear at precisely the right moment, relieving the pilot of that responsibility. The gear creates a tremendous drag in such a plane, and must be gotten up quickly—but not too quickly—for proper climbing speed.

Having made half a dozen long flights ranging from 1,500 to 2,000 miles with the automatic C-54, Air Force experts feel that particular plane has been pretty well worked over, although numerous improvements in the quipment remain to be made.

On the five-stop trans-Atlantic trip, the plane had to be landed manually at Westover field, Mass., and Stephenville for lack of necessary ground radio facilities. At all other times the plane was operated without human assistance.

2 EX-SOLDIERS HELD IN ATOM FILM THEFT

By The Associated Press

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 9—Federal agents who have been probing thefts of confidential matter from the Los Alamos atomic project nabbed two more suspects yesterday—and at the same time revealed the investigation also has covered a highly secret weapones project outside Albuquerque.

Complaints filed immediately after the simultaneous arrests 85 miles apart in New Mexico accused George Wellington Thompson, 38, formerly of Greenwood, Mo., of taking classified photographs from both the Army's Sandia base here and the atom laboratory; and Ernest Lawrence Paporello, 29, formerly of Union City, N. J., of stealing half a dozen Los Alamos pictures.

The two were identified by the federal bureau of investigation as former Army photographers at Los Alamos, where the first atom bomb was assembled. After his discharge Thompson was a civil service employe for a time at Sandia.

Arraigned in Santa Fe, Thompson pleaded guilty to the Los Alamos thefts but denied taking any photos from the base here. Paporello's hearing in Albuquerque was continued until next Monday, allowing him time to engage counsel. Bonds of both were fixed at $10,000. Thompson was held in the Santa Fe city jail. Paporello was lodged in the county jail here.

NO-EGG DAY MEETS SPOTTY COMPLIANCE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9—Spotty to complete compliance with the first eggless-poultryless Thursday under President Truman's food conservation program was reported today in Ohio restaurants and hotels.

Spot checks in Cincinnati and Toledo found all eating places observing the restriction on eggs and poultry.

In Cleveland, some restaurants had eggs-as-usual, some had eggs-if-you-insist and some had none.

Compliance was spotty in Columbus. Some major restaurants said they would continue to serve restricted items pending receipt of specific instructions from the Ohio State Restaurant association, which recommended yesterday that all restaurants "which can reasonably do so" comply with the "no-meat-on-Tuesday" and "no-eggs-or-poultry-on-Thursday" program. The association predicted that the program would be "ineffective."

Many eating place operators appeared to be in agreement with the Cleveland manager who said: "So we don't have meat on Tuesday. What happens? People eat eggs, and then we don't have eggs on Thursday. What happens? People eat meat."

"JETS" CRASH SOUND BARRIER

Revelation Comes on Heels of British Announcement They Hit 900.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9—United States Navy ram-jet engine tests have recorded speeds in excess of 1,400 miles an hour, officials acknowledged today in commenting on British estimates that one of their engines reached 900 miles an hour in a drop test.

If the British plane represents their highest achievement to date they are behind both the Navy and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, which now has under way an extensive drop test program with ram-jet engines, with speeds expected to reach up to 2,000 miles an hour.

In its only test thus far, using the least powerful of the several sizes of ram-jet engines built or designed for the purpose, the NACA hit a measured speed of nearly one and one-half times the speed of sound, or just over 1,000 miles an hour.

See 1,200 Miles

Another test with a somewhat more powerful modification of the same engine is scheduled shortly at its testing station north of the Virginia Capes, with an expected speed of 1,200 miles an hour.

More powerful engines of the same overall diameter are being readied for subsequent tests, with expected speeds of 1,600 to 2,000 miles an hour.

This particular type engine is taken to altitudes of around six miles under the belly of a B-29 and dropped into the Atlantic ocean.

The Navy's tests, which have been under way for at least two years, and more spectacular in that the ram-jet engine is launched from shore by having attached to it our huge rocket motors. These rockets spring the engine up to the speed necessary to provide the ram effect, which enables the engine to fly by itself.

This project has been known as the "bumble bee." The engine was shot off the New Jersey coast into the ocean.

Get Flight Records

Both the Navy and the NACA get actual in-flight recordings from their high-speed missiles by means of telemetering, the automatic radio reporting to ground stations of the recording instruments in the missile. These records also are checked by radar measurements.

A ram-jet engine has no moving parts, except itself. The compression of air needed to burn fuel is attained by the engine's own forward speed. Because of that, it cannot operate below 400 miles an hour. For economic operation a considerably higher speed is desirable. The faster the movement, the more efficient the engine.

Another limitation of the ram-jet is altitude, since it must stay within the earth's atmosphere as the higher it goes, the higher its speed must be to obtain the needed volume of oxygen.

Piloted Craft Unseen

Engineers are not willing to predict any early achievement of supersonic speed in piloted aircraft, the simple fact being that nothing properly described as an aircraft has yet exceeded the speed of sound in flight. The tests in this country as well as the ones in England are more properly described as being "missile" experiments, since they do not involve the use of aerodynamics to obtain lift.

The United States holds the world's speed record for piloted aircraft at 650 miles an hour, which under the circumstances represented 86 per cent of the speed of sound. Combat type airlines now are being designed and built for speeds exceeding 90 per cent of the speed of sound. That puts them into the transonic range, the unexplored area where the problems of both sub-sonic and supersonic flight are encountered.

The speed of sound normally is considered 760 miles an hour, but this varies 100 miles an hour in both directions with change in temperature.

* * *

Supersonic or sonic barrier describes a somewhat abrupt increase in air resistance close to the speed of sound. The speed over land is 750 mile an hour and over sea may be under 700 miles an hour.

There are two parts to this sonic barrier. One the air begins to be compressed considerably by the plane's speed. This comparison is not gradual, but sudden. Two, the waves of air that roll back from the front edges of the plane's wing curl back down again before the plane can get past them.

In ordinary flight the air flows smoothly back over the front

Arraignment of Shappard Set for Oct. 21

Arraignment of Ray A. Shappard, 32, of Prospect on a charge of first degree murder in the hammer slaying of Roxie Ann Green, 16, was postponed in common pleas court today until 9 a. m., Tuesday, Oct. 21.

The delay was granted by Judge Paul D. Smith at the request of Chief Defense Counsel Ralph Carhart. The request was made when Shappard appeared in court at 1:15 p. m. today. His arraignment at this time had been scheduled yesterday by Judge Smith at the same time he appointed Attorneys Ralph and Dwight Carhart to represent the prisoner.

Ralph Carhart, chief defense counsel, explained to the court that he had an opportunity to talk with Shappard only two hours since his appointment.

Judge, Prosecutor Agree

The judge agreed to the delay after Prosecuting Attorney James E. Reed gave his approval.

Carhart explained that he needed more time to go into the case before advising his client on entering a plea to the indictment returned by the grand jury in common pleas court last Tuesday afternoon.

Waives Reading

At the opening of court proceedings this afternoon Carhart waived reading of the indictment. He then asked for the delay in entering a plea for Shappard.

When asked by Judge Smith what he would consider a reasonable time in which to go into the case Carhart answered that he would like a week or more. Judge Smith then set the formal arraignment for Oct. 21. Prosecutor Reed also agreed to this date.

Shappard was taken to the courtroom from the county jail by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer. He took no part in the proceedings except to answer one question. He was asked by Judge Smith at what time he had been served a copy of the indictment. He answered that it was "about noon yesterday."

Ohio Rail Round-Trip Reduction Eliminated

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9—The state utilities commission today issued an order eliminating the customary 10 per cent reduction in most intra-state round-trip passenger train fares, and was expected to grant a 10 per cent intra-state freight hike later in the day.

Freight rate boosts were scheduled to match increases recently granted by the inter-state commerce commission on inter-state hauling.

Round-trip passenger increases will go into effect Oct. 13 and will be effective except between Cleveland and Cincinnati.

UNIONS BACK BURKE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9—Mayor Thomas A. Burke, who will oppose Eliot Ness in next month's mayoralty campaign, had the backing today both of Cleveland's main union groups. Falling in line with earlier action by the Cleveland Federation of Labor (AFL), the Cleveland Industrial Union Council (CIO) last night indorsed him.

Fat Steaks Will Be Fewer, Says Beef Farmer

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

CLEARK LAKE, Iowa, Oct. 9—A farmer here recently received $60,000—the largest single check ever issued to a cattle feeder in this area—yet today he doesn't know whether it is worthwhile to stay in business.

That is the dilemma of J. D. Richardson and many another midwest farmer who makes a career of taking range-fed western cattle and fattening them into top grade heavy beef.

Hal Boyle

"I've been feeding cattle for 25 years and darned if I know what to do," said Richardson, a tall blue-eyed farmer son of a farmer.

He and others like him are being scared into reduced activity by the high price of grain, the food-fuel that ripens lean, grass-fed steers into the juicy, fat-grained steaks that command a premium in metropolitan markets.

"A fellow doesn't know whether it's worth bothering about," said Richardson. "They've got us over a barrel."

He figures that he can buy an 800-pound steer for $216 but that it will cost him a dollar a day for 300 or more days to feed it the corn and protein needed to plump it into a 1,400-pound target for the butcher.

Not Including Labor

"That makes it cost me $516, not counting the hay it eats or my own overhead and labor costs," he said. "Nor does it include any interest for my money.

But such a steer, if sold on the present high Chicago market of about $36 a hundredweight, would fetch him only $504.

"There is just no way you can figure it out on pencil and paper," said Richardson. "It looks like a feeder is licked before he starts.

"He has no inclination to go ahead and buy steers and gamble on the possibility that their sale price at the stockyards will be higher a year from now because he believes it is already too high.

"You can't get Americans away from eating meat. They just don't want corn mush in this country. But I don't think the consuming public can pay any more for meat and I don't blame them if they won't.

Farmer Deserves No Blame

"City folks sometimes blame the farmer for these high prices but the farmer didn't ask for them. We'd be a lot better off if the prices stayed low. Now we're out on a limb."

Richardson got his check of $60,000 for 138 high grade steers.

"I figure that if I buy a hundred steers at the present price to fatten," he said, "they could lose me the price of the feed plus $15,000, plus the cost of my labor.

So what is he to do? Well, he owns a 480-acre farm of which 280 acres is in corn. So if the price of range feed steers at Omaha drops enough to make it worth while to take a change, he said he might buy 75 steers—about half his usual quota—and risk the beef price drop he expects.

Sees Bottom Drop

"I've seen the bottom drop out twice," he said soberly.

But the farm, after a quarter of a century, would be lonesome without beef cattle around and he can largely feed them with his own corn, the corn he could sell now for a nice profit if he chose to.

"I never sold a bushel of corn in my life though," he said. "I always have to buy from neighbors to feed my cattle."

And because farmers are traditional people he will go on as before on a reduced scale. He feels his own case is typical.

"So there won't be as much beef to eat in this country next year as before — that's for sure," said Richardson.

"The thing that would ease up the situation would be for us to quit shipping grub overseas. That would bring the price down. But I guess that isn't the way a lot of other people feel about it."

Report Sale of 31 New Cars in Week

A total of 31 new automobiles and one truck were sold in Marion county during the week ending Oct. 7, according to records in the office of Calvin C. Oborn, clerk of courts. Sixteen automobiles and one truck were sold the week previous while three weeks ago 23 automobiles and two trucks were sold.

Man Bound to Jury In Court at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 9—Bond was set at $1,000 when Stanley Earl Fulton, 38, of near Galion, was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He was given a hearing in Mayor William Amann's court this week. The charge grew out of an attack with a hammer on George Thomas, 35, of south of Galion. The attack took place at Harding Way East and East streets, last Saturday afternoon.

In Opening Phase of Struggle For Globe, Reds Hold Top Hand

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

As communism intensifies its drive for world revolution we find Russia holding the whip hand at the outset in the European struggle, in that the Moscovites and their satellites possess the great bulk of the continent's current food resources, whereas the democracies of the western area are suffering grave privation, including actual hunger.

That's the way Dame Nature divided things up this year—good crops on the whole in eastern Europe, and bad ones in most parts of the west. So fortune has handed the Bolshevists a mighty weapon with which to persuade, or to compel, distressed peoples to knuckle under.

DewittMackenzie

When folk are hungry, and especially when they see their children hungry, they will do most anything to secure food. Among the particularly vulnerable countries are Italy, Austria, Germany and France.

Bolshevism's heaviest initial assault is expected to be made in Europe, and in the case of hard-hit Italy there is fear that the Bolshevists may resort to revolution. Short of that, strikes and disorders are anticipated in an effort to achieve by force what can't by accomplished by moral-suasion. Britain, although badly hit by the economic depression, is rather outside the range of Moscow's big guns.

China Is Action Field

Another field of direct action will be Asia, especially in China and Korea. The big question of the moment in that area is whether the Chinese Communists will get material Russian aid in their civil war with the Chinese Nationalist government. The Chinese government long has maintained that the Russians are aiding the Chinese Reds in the battle for the great and rich territory of Manchuria. Moscow would give much to have a puppet state wedged into the northern flank of China.

As for Korea, the Soviet Union already has established itself in the northern half of the country, thereby securing an invaluable military base. Reports from southern Korea, now occupied by American troops, say that the Russians are trying to precipitate a Communist upheaval.

Meantime in America, and in other countries throughout the Western Hemisphere, we may look for an intensification of fifth-column and spy activities. Reds will continue to incite trouble between labor and employer, while fellow travelers will spread the word that all is well.

Target for Spies

The U. S. state department yesterday said it is a "vital target" for spies, and announced a set of security principles calculated to make certain that no department employe constitutes a security risk. Classed as security risks are members of the Communist, Nazi and Fascist parties. Also named as a security risk is anyone who has close association with persons believed to be members of such parties.

Tuesday President Gabriel Gonzales Videla of Chile ordered mobilization of the 1946 class of army reserves "to avert a Communist party revolutionary plan." Other South American countries are engaged in a knock-down fight with bolshevism.

Even the United Nations is becoming a battlefield for bolshevism's attack on the democracies. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky opened the week with a fierce attack on the capitalist system. More and more the Bolshevists are employing the peace organization as a sounding board for the propagation of communism, rather than for the creation of tranquility and rehabilitation. It is the best forum they could get, for what is said in the UN travels immediately around the world.

LaRue Students Give Summer Trip Reports

LARUE—Full accounts of trips made during the summer as school representatives were given by three high school seniors and one 1947 graduate at a special assembly of the LaRue High school Friday. Musical awards were also presented at the assembly to students earning 100 points in band and orchestra during last school year.

Seniors telling of their trips were Doris Allen who, with Winifred Jones, attended the convention of the National Thespian Society held at Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind.; Lillian Outland, representative to the first Buckeye Girls' State at Capital university in Columbus, and sponsored by the local Legion Auxiliary Unit; Ralph Wilson who with Burke Ballinger was sponsored by Phillippi-Clement Post, No. 101, business men's association and sportsmen's club as representatives to Boys' State at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware. Richard Ford, graduate of the class of 17, told of his trip to Miami, Fla., sponsored by the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio for winning in the county contest based on the study of alcohol.

Music awards were presented by Mrs. Esther Schlosser, music director, to Lillian Outland, Doris Allen, Ralph Wilson, Robert Littell, Mary Jane Barden, Jim Buyler and Jim Thompson. Names read of last year's graduates receiving awards were Betty Hooper, Irma Lou Wall, Loren Gillespie, T. L. Parker and Jack Olsen. Supt. C. M. Barden expressed appreciation for the work done in the music department by Mrs. Schlosser who came to the LaRue school last year and has now resigned to make her home in Pittsburgh. Special music for the assembly was furnished by the band and boys' quartet, under the direction of Mrs. Schlosser. Benediction was given by Patty Davis, and Mary Benson presided at the all-student program.

Mrs. Margaret Houshower began her duties last week as teacher in the social science department of the LaRue High school, after resigning from employment in Cincinnati which prevented her from starting work at the beginning of the school term. Mrs. Houshower, former teacher in the Van Buren and Harpster schools, is residing in Marseilles where her husband is employed in the high school there. Substituting for the new teacher the first three weeks was Rev. C. A. Hutchinson, pastor of the LaRue Methodist church.

• • •

A gift was presented from the teachers of the LaRue schools Friday to Mrs. Esther Schlosser, whose resignation as music instructor in the LaRue High school became effective last week. Presentation of the gift was made by Supt. C. M. Barden at a meeting of the teachers at the noon hour. Mrs. Schlosser who came to the LaRue school last year will move to her new home in Pittsburgh where her husband is employed as a boy scout executive.

• • •

Loren Gillespie, son of Mrs. Lena Gillespie of LaRue, has enrolled in the school of agriculture at Ohio State university in Columbus. He is a graduate of the LaRue High school class of 1947.

"U.S. Women Could Learn Lot From Japs on Pleasing Men"

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—American women could learn a lot from Japanese girls when it come to pleasing men, United Press Correspondent Ernest Hoberecht said today.

Hoberecht, who has just returned to the United State for a vacation after two years in Tokyo, said that he knew he was sticking his neck out—but the truth was the truth.

"There's no woman in the world who worries more about her man's comfort," Ernie explained, "and it's pretty wonderful for the pampered husband. The average Japanese girl could take lessons from an American when it comes to personality, or making conversation, but as an everyday housewife, Mrs. Japan is miles ahead.

Ask Man Who Owns One

Hoberecht, to support his theory, says that he knows "about 900" Americans who have married Japanese women "and they're all extremely satisfied. They wouldn't exchange their wives for a stateside counterpart if you tossed in a new car to boot."

The Japanese housewife meets her husband at the door with his slippers. Before he can pick up his evening newspaper, she has a cocktail in his hand.

"If the husband wishes to talk, his wife sits down and talks," Hoberecht said. "But if he indicates that he's busy or worried, she scrams right out to the kitchen without a word."

If the husband wishes to work after dinner, the Japanese wife knows just when to bring him a fresh can of beer. And it's never too cold or too warm. She keeps it just right.

Always On Hand

"And even if he doesn't go to bed until 3 a. m.," Ernie said, "she'll wait around in the kitchen, ready to see about a last minute snack."

Hoberecht is the author of Japan's best-seller "Tokyo Romance" which has sold 300,000 copies. There is a Hoberecht fan club in Tokyo with 20,000 bobby-soxers cheering his name.

"The women of Japan have failed but once," Ernie said, "and that was at our first fan club meeting. My publishers hired 30 girls to put on a real show. They were supposed to yell, toss flowers at me, and finally faint."

The girls did everything as ordered, but they couldn't faint.

Got Stage Fright

"They got stage fright at the last minute," Hoberecht said, "and just couldn't pull it off. They said that fainting was 'too democratic.'" Hoberecht's novel is based on the love troubles of a Japanese actress and an American war correspondent.

"The Japanese women readers took it too seriously, though," Ernie said. "One girl from Hiroshima came to my door with bag and baggage. She claimed that the book was written about her and that her GI boy friend had skipped.

"'If you don't tell me where he is, I'm going to commit suicide on your doorstep,' she told me."

Hoberecht finally bought her off by promising her six autographed copies of his next book.

Don Gentile, Ohio Ace, Recalled to Air Force

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Oct. 9—The Dayton Daily News in a dispatch from Washington said yesterday Don Gentile, of Piqua, O., flying ace of the European theater in World War II, had been recalled to active duty, and would report "probably within a week."

The News said Gentile conferred with Gen. Carl Spaatz, comamnding general of the Air Forces, yesterday in Washington.

Gentile was quoted by the News as saying he expected to report as a major and be assigned to fighter planes.

L. K. McGinnis Heads St. Mary Booster Club

Officers were elected and plans discussed for fall and winter activities at a meeting of St. Mary Booster club Tuesday night in Moira hall. L. K. McGinnis was elected president, Paul McKinney, vice president, Mrs. Catherine Anderson, secretary, and Charles Sens, treasurer.

Tentative plans were discussed for a membership drive to be held through the month of November, to be climaxed with a Thanksgiving party and dance for the members. Refreshments were served and a motion picture shown following the business session.

MRS. MARY A. RILEY DIES IN ILLINOIS

Former Marion County Resident Stricken at 92.

Mrs. Mary Arbelle Riley, 92, former resident of Marion county, died at 12:12 p. m. Wednesday in her home at Canton, Ill. Funeral services will be held in Marion Saturday.

Born Dec. 2, 1854, in Green Camp township, she was a daughter of David and Eliza Thomas. Nov. 5, 1874, she was married in Marion at the Baptist parsonage to John Cyrus Riley. He died in 1918. A year later the Rileys moved to Upper Sandusky. From Upper Sandusky, they went to Topeka, Kan., then later moved to a farm west of Green Camp where Mrs. Riley lived until 1937 when she moved to Illinois. Her conversation concerning her memories of the Civil war and other historic events were of interest to relatives and friends. She was a life member of the Prospect chapter of Eastern Star.

Surviving are a foster son, Theodore Bergrun of Farmington, Ill., who was taken into the Riley home in 1906, and a niece, Mrs. Clarence Rutherford of 227 South High street, Marion. A sister, Mrs. Viola Shaw, died in 1939.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. Lester R. Kidd, pastor of the Green Camp Baptist church. Burial will be in the Marion mausoleum. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Mt. Olive Grange Has Booster Night

Booster Night was observed by Mt. Olive Grange recently at a meeting in the Grange hall. The special program opened with a song by the group, followed by these numbers: song, "Zip-a-dee-doo-da," Sue Ann Reynolds; recitation, Tommy Reynolds; reading, Richard Porter; piano solo, "Narcissus," Ruth Schertzer; two numbers by the Mt. Olive quartet which recently won second place in the county contest. The songs were "Annie Laurie" and "My Blue Heaven" and members of the group are Mrs. Nina Ruth Hedges, Miss Evelyn Porter, Lowell Hedges and Dwight Hedges. A letter from the national grange master, A. S. Goss, was read by the lecturer, Lydia Lauer.

Two applications for membership were received and a resignation was accepted. Joe Lyon, degree captain, announced that work for the new candidates will be given Nov. 6. The Halloween party for the community, with the Green Camp school faculty as guests, will be held Oct. 30. The home economics committee will be in charge of the supper, with the program in charge of Mrs. Lena Bricker, Mrs. Ruth Ann Lyon and Mrs. Dorothy Porter.

It Was a Great Victory

IT WAS a great victory. But the labor union chiefs who forced the national labor relations board to cancel the ruling that non-Communist affidavits had to be signed before their organizations could use its services couldn't afford it.

The victory makes the public just that much more doubtful about the chiefs' real reasons for resisting the Taft-Hartley act, especially the common-sense provision that no known Communist should be able to take advantage of the protection that NLRB gives American workingmen.

Union leaders rarely admit it, but the union movement needs public favor to survive, and the non-Communist affidavits were a heaven-sent chance to sidestep their critics. A few of them were smart enough to realize this. They declared they had nothing to fear. The rest were dumb; they're the ones, unfortunately, who made NLRB reverse itself. Instead of putting their unions and themselves in the clear, they've convicted themselves in the court of public opinion.

Public opinion can't be reversed as easily as an NLRB ruling. Where there are loud cries of anguish, someone's tail must be caught in a screen door. John Lewis and associates have won another great victory at the expense of public opinion. A few more and the union movement in the United States will be dead as far as any further usefulness for helping working people is concerned. It will be devoted exclusively to helping the union chiefs.

No Better Off

AS LONG ago as April, 1946, railroads were asking for a 25 per cent freight rate increase. A lot of water has gone under the trestle since then and wages and expenses have reached new highs. This additional 10 per cent temporary increase brings rate advances to 27 per cent. But 27 per cent now, in terms of buying power, is substantially less now than it was 18 months ago.

As was expected, shippers opposed the latest increase, yet railroads, like other employers, must pay higher wages, maintain credit and, more than many employers, invest in new equipment. Thus reasoned the interstate commerce commission.

Actually, the latest increase hasn't improved the railroads' financial outlook one whit. With a new 15½-cent pay increase for non-operating employes and with the operating brotherhoods negotiating for higher pay and new working rules, the 27 per cent increase leaves them about where they were in April, 1946, if not a little worse.

Pampered Livestock

PERTURBED at the idea of meatless days, which it believes unnecessary, the American Meat Institute says 34,000,000 tons of feed can be saved on American farms without hampering livestock production.

The institute says eat-less programs are a negative approach which would wreck livestock programs, impair nutrition and augment inflation. It says there's plenty of feed if it's properly used and offers a 22-page report on feed-saving suggestions.

The report proposes reducing the average weight of hogs about 30 pounds, for a 500-pound hog eats five pounds of feed to gain a pound while a smaller hog needs only three pounds. Eliminating unproductive hens would save 5,000,000 tons of feed annually, it says, and it reports one milk cow in five could be culled profitably, saving 6,000,000 tons. The average farm animal's feed consumption has increased in 10 years from 1,560 to 1,860 pounds annually.

The kitchen isn't the only place where waste can be prevented. Have farmers been pampering their livestock no less than some Americans have their stomachs?

The Army Shouldn't Forget

EDITORIAL consensus, plus the AMVETS' angry reaction at their Columbus convention, indicate an unfavorable reception to Inspector General Wyche's report on Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee. "Whitewash" is a word that's being used frequently. Columnist Robert Ruark, who started it all, says he will have a reply in due time.

A military leader, whether he be a squad leader or an army group commander, must obey regulations, enforce discipline and maintain high morale if he is worth his salt. Regardless of what the inspector general found, the evidence is strong that Gen. Lee failed on the third count. The number of veterans who came forward to corroborate Ruark's findings is too large to be laughed off.

As far as the Army is concerned, the case is closed. The Pentagon brass would like to have it forgotten as quickly as possible so that it won't harm universal military training's chances. It won't be forgotten quickly, however, and the Army's top command should be the last to forget it. In a democratic army the top brass should be worthy of respect as well as obedience.

Politics and Food

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Hog Has Big Role in Grain Problem.

THE grain-saving program, under development by Messrs. Truman, Luckman and others, already bears some marks inflicted by heavy pressure politics. The emphasis on grain saving by distillers and brewers is altogether greater than is justified by the possible saving of grain by the industry. And Chairman Luckman's statement about savings in livestock feeding is so gingerly that it is quite evident that if great savings in livestock were to be made, it might precipitate a political rumpus in some parts of the corn belt. The Luckman education in pressure politics is about to begin.

The President knows and Luckman will learn that the prohibition movement will use this crisis to the utmost to cut the grain supply to distillers and brewers down to the vanishing point. The drys wage an unrelenting struggle. Nothing like it has been seen in American life. They have been intensely active ever since the war indicated an end to the American surplus of wheat and corn. They do not believe in the principle of voluntary denial, on which the Truman-Luckman program rests. They gave up the principle of self-denial years ago when the idea of prohibition took the place of temperance.

Distillers' Grain Use Small

A measure of the strength of the dry movement is shown by the prominence given in the Sunday night broadcasts to grain-saving by distillers and brewers. The fact is that the savings indicated in that direction are small. The distillers use practically no wheat and not over two per cent of the corn crop. Moreover, a large percentage of the grain used comes back as feed. In the present instance, the distillers have measurably anticipated the demand. They have, as the President says, large stocks of distilled spirits on hand and can weather 60 days without trouble.

The really important means of saving grain goes back to the farm and concerns which animals will have priority over Europe and how much. But this involves the conflicting interests of great states and, if attacked head-on, could bring about immense political consequence. Hence, the President found it safer to attack the grain exchanges and bypass the farms. Luckman merely said, "We are developing a program that will reduce the amount of grain farmers now use to feed their livestock and poultry."

An Important Factor

At the heart of that program, if it is realistically approached, is his corpulent majesty, the American hog. If the hog can be slenderized, a lot of grain can be saved.

The American hog will command, this year, about 40 to 45 per cent of the American corn crop. In developing a hog to maturity and beyond, it takes three times as much grain to produce a pound of lard as a pound of pork. Hence, a point is reached where a choice must be made between pork and lard. And this must be considered in the light of grain-saving. The incentive to develop hogs to large size depends upon the price of fats and oils. And the price of fats and oils depends upon scarcity or plenty.

In the third quarter of the present year, when oil and fat allocations were low, the price of heavy hogs, compared with those of lower weights, declined. The spread was so great that it became uneconomical for farmers to increase the size of their hogs. Senators from the corn belt complained.

Butchering Time in Denmark

It can be pointed out that in Denmark, where meticulous economics prevail in the animal industry, it has been found that the happy point for the death of a hog is at a weight of from 200 to 220 pounds. Such hogs provide an export item which is best in quality and most economical in feed.

Chairman Luckman, as a soap manufacturer, ought to understand this problem better than most. We shall see how far he is able to convince the administration of the need to reach some decisive policy about the appropriate size of a hog.

Preachers Do a Lot
On Fire Prevention

This, by proclamation of President Truman and endeavor of the insurance companies, is National Fire Prevention week.

And as millions of radiators testify without warmth, the nation's landlords and janitors are wholeheartedly cooperating.

Fire is one of the oldest phenomena known to man, having been discovered shortly after food and a little before indigestion.

Its three principal uses are for heating, cooking and fire sales.

Fire has changed our whole civilization. Without it, we'd be a race of snuff dippers and tobacco chewers.

But fire is an enemy as well as a friend. It annually takes a toll greater than flood, termites and the collector of internal revenue.

A fire breaks out in this country every twenty seconds . . . . No wonder the firemen never get to finish that checker game.

The Nature of Collateral

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WHEN a loan is made to an individual, a corporation, or a nation, the lender is entitled to some form of collateral against the possibility that the borrower will default. The worth of an individual is more easily determined than the worth of a nation, because most nations are a complex of governments, private citizens and natural resources worked and prospective.

Certain countries, like Soviet Russia, have simplified their economy by the establishment of a state monopoly of wealth. Other nations, like Great Britain, make a distinction between the resources of the government and the possessions of private citizens. Whereas the government may be poor, individual citizens may be fabulously rich.

On July 21, 1941, the British government negotiated a loan from the reconstruction finance corporation in the sum of $425,000,000, putting up as collateral securities with an approximate value of $320,000,000; the capital stock of British-owned American insurance companies, with an estimated value of $180,000,000, were pledged with the RFC. As of June 30, 1947, the RFC had received payments aggregating $255,826,255, of which $195,517,446 was applied as principal, $47,510,143 as interest and $12,798,666 held in reserve accounts. In this particular instance, the British used as collateral the private property of some of its citizens. I am told that these assets have so increased in value that they can be used for collateral for an even greater amount.

Public Should Know

What are the foreign assets in the United States which might be used as collateral? The government of the United States has in its possession figures on this subject and certainly before congress agrees to the provision of another dollar of American credit or the sale, on the cuff, of a dollar of irreplaceable commodities to these countries, complete data should be made public for the American people to see.

The British own some of the largest manufacturing companies in the United States, including Lever Brothers, headed by Charles Luckman, who operates the propaganda machine for the export for free, of American food to Europe beyond the known surplus as indicated by department of agriculture data. There are other American companies, the capital stock of which is British-owned. These can be used as collateral for loans, first on the basis of the formula laid down by Jesse Jones in the 1941 loan, and secondly on the basis of the principles of nationalization which the present Socialist government in England has been employing.

It is estimated that the British own $660,000,000 of stocks and bonds in this country, and about $1,000,000,000 in real estate, trust funds and other assets. In a word, a very rough guess from known figures would put British-owned assets held in America between $3,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000. This figure is low and can be corrected only by the government of the United States.

Other Assets Run High

Canadian assets in the United States are put at $2,350,000,000, but that figure does not indicate what British assets are in Canada. Dutch assets in the United States have been put at $500,000,000, but it would be difficult to estimate the value of British assets in the Dutch colonies in Asia, particularly in oil, tin, rubber, spices and other commodities which are sold largely to the United States at non-competitive prices that are fixed by governments.

Altogether it has been variously estimated that foreign countries and nationals have from $9,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 of assets within the United States all of which can be used as collateral for loans and for the commodities which the Europeans require.

Actually, these governments are not as poor as they pretend to be. John J. McCloy, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, put it soundly when he said:

"It does seem worth stressing that the need for American dollars shown by the fund's report—the so-called 'dollar problem'—is fundamentally a matter of production. The great need for American dollars today simply reflects the facts . . . That the rest of the world is not yet producing enough to enable it to obtain the necessary goods and services through domestic production and normal international trade channels . . ."

The economy of the world ought not to be ruined by the charity of the state department by subsidizing non-productivity.

The Second Frontier

Demonstration Shows Growth of Interest in Conservation.

By HARRY A. McCREA

THE fact that 41,000 persons gathered last Thursday near Newark to see the opening of "the Second Frontier" indicates that the soil conservation message is getting across.

For years a few voices in the wilderness have warned that we are despoiling America's natural resources. Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the Federal Soil Conservation Service, long has cautioned that our productive land has been shrinking as rapidly as our population has been increasing. Louis Bromfield has cut down on novel-writing to operate his Ohio farm as a model for conservationists and to carry the warning of danger to any group willing to hear it.

The 600-man crew that rejuvenated the 308 Ohio acres in one day did work that needs to be done on much of America's farmland. According to Mr. Bennett, the United States has about a billion acres of farm and range land and about 90 per cent needs some kind of conservation treatment.

Of Top Importance

Conservation of what remains of the world's acreage of arable land is one of the most pressing problems facing the world today, even though it is less spectacular than some of the problems that make first-page news. Man-made erosion is as old as civilization itself but it has now reached a point where the loss of productive land anywhere on the globe affects people everywhere else. As John Donne observed 350 years ago in one of his homilies: ". . if a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the lesse as well as if a promontorie were . ."

Mr. Bennett estimates that there are left in the world 4,000,000,000 acres of productive land. These must support a population of 2,000,000,000 which is increasing at the rate of 20,000,000 a year. This land must produce all our woods, leather and fibers as well as food. Since it takes 2½ acres of reasonably productive land, on the average, to provide one person with a minimum adequate diet, it is apparent that the time is at hand for broad reclamation programs.

Because we had so much to start with in the United States, we are better off than some, but erosion is taking an increasing toll of our crop and pasture lands. Our annual loss approaches 500,000 acres. The direct cost runs to $1,000,000,000 a year and higher in flood years.

The indirect costs are even greater for erosion creates rural slums, narrows the tax base and reduces purchasing power. Examples of how soil erosion affects landowners, the public and the government are found in every section. For example, the government has spent $112,000,000 in the last 100 years for dredging and channel maintenance in Chesapeake Bay. Chesapeake Bay's oyster industry has declined from 13,000,000 bushels in 1880 to 3,000,000 bushels now because soil that once was on Pennsylvania and Virginia farms is now clogging the oyster beds.

Look at the old maps of the Chesapeake Bay area and you will see towns named Bladensburg, Joppa Town and Port Tobacco, gone now because erosion-produced sediment cut them off from navigation.

But it is along the Mississippi, the giant artery that carries the run-off water of the American midland, where erosion's toll is most apparent. Instead of working in the Mississippi's remotest tributaries and in the upland meadows, those charged with flood prevention in the past have concentrated on dredging and building Mississippi levees until at some places the river literally flows above the surrounding countryside. Because of the lack of proper conservation methods or no conservation program at all, hundreds of millions of tons of the watershed's finest topsoil lies in the Gulf of Mexico or in the Mississippi's vast delta.

Poor Little Egypt

Southern Illinois, near the confluence of the Ohio and the Mississippi, has a section once known as Little Egypt, not only because of the floods there but also because of the fertility of its soil. Today erosion has made Little Egypt the poorhouse of Illinois. With a higher percentage on relief there than anywhere else in the state, its population is declining. The legislature has appropriated funds and the state university has begun a program with a view to restoring Little Egypt to at least part of its former prosperity.

As Mr. Bennett summarizes the problem: "Our hope for the future security of the land which is our sustenance depends on our safeguarding it with the permanent, acre-by-acre conservation treatment and use which today is spreading so rapidly over the country. Actually today we are in a race. The sides already are drawn. On the one side we are faced with a steadily increasing population. Year after year the number of people on the earth has grown larger. No one can say with authority where, or when, the growth will level off. On the other hand we can see our remaining area of productive land shrinking steadily before erosion's onslaught.

"These are the forces we must deal with. Regardless of what can or should be done about the matter of population, we can and must do something about erosion. No nation—or the world, for that matter—has too much fertile land. Neither the world nor any nation can afford to lose any more productive land. Too many nations have much too little now. In relation to world population, our total ability to produce food has already arrived precariously close to the danger line. In some countries the danger line was crossed long before World War II. There is no more land to waste."

Anything for the Children

"I guess I'd better take the children to movies tonight," said Elmer Twitchell.

"Why tonight?" ask the wife.

"I can't postpone it much longer," explained Elmer. "Haven't you noticed how the kids have been actin' lately?"

"How?" asked Mrs. Twitchell.

"Junior missed the letter carrier twice with the shot at him from the top of the stairs yesterday. And he's still complaining that he's a little slow grasping the fine points of jumping on a playmate from a suitable elevation in a dark corridor."

"That surprises me," said the wife. "His teacher told me that he knew more about the art of foul play than any boy his age in the class. I thought he was getting along as well as could be expected, considering he is only 8."

* * *

"How about it, Junior?" asked Elmer.

"Aw, I'd just like to go to the picture to see a to run over the routine of slugging prison wardens," said the child.

"It's the same as slugging cops," insisted Mr. Twitchell, lightly.

"Naw," said Junior. "It's different. It calls for a running start and a big leap. You have to know something about mugging and tonight's picture will straighten me out, the advertisement says."

"Penelope wants to go, too," said Elmer. "She doesn't know how to find secret wall panels and when a body falls out she gets excited. We can't have a child that backward in days like these."

"Are you really upset when dead bodies fall out of closets?" demanded her mother.

"Just a little," admitted the little child. "A few more pictures will fix me up though, Mother, honest they will."

* * *

"Last night four masked men broke into our home," lamented Elmer. "They ransacked the house while they stuck up you and me with horse pistols. Little Penelope didn't even look up."

"They didn't shoot anybody," said Penelope, "so I didn't think it was anything special."

"What's there to the story that you don't like the Jones boy up the street just because he's only been arrested eight times and escaped from the reform school twice?"

"Come come, our little girl isn't that snooty," exclaimed Mother Twitchell a little hurt.

"She is, too," insisted Elmer. "And she isn't speaking to Tim William's boy, Larry. I asked her why and she said I couldn't expect her to have any use for a boy who was clean, decent and honest like that."

"But he doesn't even carry a knife," said Penelope.

"I'd better take 'em" said Elmer. "I don't want any kids lagging behind the others when it comes to a clear comprehension of the important things in modern life. Come on kids and don't applaud anybody who throws any pop down fewer than three flights."

* * *

"I think I'll go along, too," said Mother Twitchell.

"What for?" asked Elmer.

"I couldn't quite make out just how they operated that machine gun in those last two movies. I feel awfully uninformed on life these days," she replied.

Business Opportunity

By TRUMAN TWILL

There's a rumor going around that button shoes are coming back. We don't believe it.

The shoe industry couldn't be that smart.

Button shoes were the slickest setup the people ever had, next to felt boots. That must have been the trouble. They were too good.

No one ever had to face the grim prospect of breaking a shoe lace at a crucial moment and not having a replacement handy.

With button shoes, if a button popped at the last instant you ignored it. While there was one button left, there was hope.

Furthermore, if all the buttons dropped off like the last roses of summer, most button shoes would linger on indefinitely.

There was no nerve-wracking trick of trying to push laces with no tips through eyelets that were too small.

No shoestrings came untied at awkward times in awkward places to be stepped on by unwary citizens at risk of life and limb.

No female persons had to endure the embarrassing experience of crouching on sidewalks to tie their shoelaces in the good old button days.

Little children did not have to wait until they were big enough to know how to tie knots to use on their own shoes in the era of shoe buttons.

Sports could be picked out at 50 paces at twilight, because sports wore pearl buttons, all others wore black and brown.

The ladies, bless them, didn't have to worry about getting splashed in wet weather. They were encased halfway to the knees in stout leather and cloth.

There was a general air of neatness and logic about the whole arrangement. Mother kept an assortment of extra buttons, just in case. Anyone handy with tools could install a button on half an hour's notice.

Instead of being fragile things, tender as paper, shoes had to have toughness and substance to stand the gaff that was given them every morning with a button hook applied like a crowbar.

When a customer had squeezed his feet into a pair of button shoes, he knew he was in there to stay; there was no point in taking them off until bedtime because once they were off they couldn't be put back on until the swelling had gone down.

Those were the days, all right. Those button shoes were the stuff. There was only one thing wrong with them. Someone was always losing the button hook. At one time there were 10 button hooks in the United States for every inhabitant—but try to find one!

If button shoes came back, it will take a billion button hooks to button them. Act now. Track down the rumor. If it's true, start a button-hook factory.

Writer Puts In Bid for Couch Used by Senatorial "Thinkers"

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—There's one good thing about the dirt on me today. It's antique. The cobwebs in my hair and the grime under my fingernails must be 150 years old.

Deep under the U. S. capitol is a maze of corridors, crannies and store-rooms, reflecting the gloom of granite heavy when the nation was young and containing the law-making appurtenances of generations ago. Here I've been rummaging with William T. Reed, the deputy sergeant-at-arms and storekeeper of the senate, looking for bargains

Such as a gigantic swivel chair, which may or may not have been carved especially for Teddy Roosevelt when he was vice president; a superb plate glass mirror 15 feet tall, which was removed recently from the ladies' room, and the senatorial butter cutter, model of 1885.

Go on Sale

These items and many another, including a dozen couches where some of America's greatest minds have done their thinking in times past, go on sale next Wednesday at the senate's first public auction in 15 years.

We wandered by one of the first typewriters ever put to use in the capitol, seven vacuum cleaners circa 1910, a few busted clocks in rosewood cases, an assortment of rugs upon which many a senatorial heel has turned and a glass fire-screen with a mahogany rim.

And then, around the corner, lined against the white-washed wall, I found what I sought' a row of couches, with senatorial bulges pressed permanently into their black leather upholstering and headrests built in for the soothing of senatorial noggins.

Going To Buy One

I'm going to buy one of these, for deep-thought purposes, if it takes every last cent I've got. Eight dollars should do the trick. Reed figured, unless other heavy thinkers are among the bidders.

Reed didn't know how old my couch was. He's a young man. He asked one of his assistants, S K. Martin, who said: "It was here before I was born and I'm more than 70 years old"

The senators' old soda fountain (that's what I said, soda fountain, with the chocolate syrup pump pretty well worn out) was up for sale So was a mahogany file case loaded with stationery of the late Sen Carter Glass of Virginia There also were a few desks hardly worth carting away.

Reed said there would have been more desks on sale, except that his experts had hit upon a scheme to slice off the uppers of the old roll-top numbers and turn em into modern desks for the senators now on the job. Modern, that is, in an old-fashioned, solid-mahogany way.

Crestline Police To Get New Cruiser

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Oct. 9—A resolution was passed at the meeting of Crestline council Monday asking the county auditor for an advance draw of $2,000 for operating expenses. Bids for a new police cruiser were opened and the bid of the Crawford Motor Sales accepted. A new Chevrolet cruiser was ordered

It was voted to purchase two 50 ft. lengths of one inch booster hose complete with couplings from the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation An ordinance was passed accepting the agreement of Floyd Brown contractor, and associates of Mar on for furnishing technical supervision at the sewage d sposal plant for $50 a month.

Representatives of the board of education were present and requested council to return to them the half mill which they gave the city several years ago A contract with the Ohio Public Service for the furnishing of lights at the sewage disposal plant was authorized. Also an ordinance setting classification and salaries for operators and labors at the disposal plant.

Mayor A. P. Sonner reported receiving $562.44 in fines and licenses for September.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, headaches, pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

...guages, the 22-year-old night club dancer from Toledo, O., told her story and reenacted for the three-judge Cuban court yesterday the events which took place aboard Mee's yacht in Havana harbor last April 8, the day the Chicago lawyer got a fatal bullet through his neck.

As she collapsed in tears in the witness chair after the dramatic reenactment, the dry voice of Chief Judge Cristobal More, president of the superior criminal court, announced a five-day postponement because of the long weekend celebration of Cuba's independence day — the tenth of October.

Miss Schmidt will resume her testimony Tuesday. She has yet to tell her colorful story twice more—once for the private prosecutor and once for her own counsel. She wept yesterday when the public prosecutor demanded the maximum penalty of Cuba—30 years imprisonment. The minimum penalty upon conviction is 20 years.

The prosecutor, Jose Manuel Fuentes Carretero, also asked the court to assess her $5,000, to be paid to Mee's family as indemnity.

In her testimony yesterday, Miss Schmidt acknowledged that she had been intimate with Mee aboard his yacht Safira, named for her, after he promised to marry her. She said she did not know until six weeks after she went aboard the yacht in January that Mee already was married.

That, she said, was when "our love began to break up." She testified, however, that Mee held her a virtual prisoner and that in the quarrel which preceded the fatal shooting he threatened: "I am going to kill you."

Winners Prepare For Final Tests

Arrangements are being made for two Pleasant Township High school students, Marion county winners of the preliminary examination in Ohio history, Ohio government and citizenship, sponsored by Ohio university at Athens, to take final examinations Oct. 18.

The students, Marjorie Vanderhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Vanderhoff of the Gooding pike, who is a member of the ninth grade class at Pleasant, and David Mayers, member of the twelfth grade class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Mayers of the Needhart road, will go to Athens for two days, Saturday, the day of the examination, and Sunday will be spent there, with expenses of the trip taken care of by the university, E. E. Banning, Pleasant school superintendent, stated.

The examinations are being sponsored by the university in connection with a special celebration and rededication of Cutler hall, first college building erected in the old historic northwest territory. Restoration of the edifice, located centrally on the university campus, was completed recently. Winners in the examination in all counties of the state will participate in the final examination and ceremonies as guests of the university.

A number of activities have been planned there for their entertainment. In the preliminary tests, conducted in the various individual schools of the county, both the Pleasant High school students received the same score, each earning a rating of 93 per cent, Mr. Banning stated.

RADIO NEWS

The story of the miracle in which The Master, standing at the prow of a ship in a storm-tossed sea, calmed the water and reduced the wind to a whisper will be told in "The Wind And The Sea Obeyed Him" during the ABC broadcast of The Greatest Story Ever Told on Sunday, Oct. 12, at 6:30 p. m. The story is told by Peter and John in order to reassure Michael, a follower of The Master who mistakenly believes that his lack of faith should bar him from the inner circle and prepares to leave. Seated about a campfire, Peter and John tell Michael how they, at one time, also lacked faith in Him but had it restored during a perilous crossing of water when He commanded the elements to be peaceful and was obeyed.

Jackie Robinson flashy first-baseman of the National league champion Brooklyn Dodgers, has jumped from tenth to sixth place on the listing of the first 10 in Jimmie Fidler's 1947 Mutual network poll to determine "Who is the most popular living man, woman or child in America today." Jimmie, on his Oct. 5 MBS broadcast of "Jimmie Fidler-Hollywood News," revealed the poll standings on the basis of second returns tabulations. On his initial report of the popularity standings on Sept. 28, positions six to 10 were occupied by, respectively, General Douglas MacArthur, Secretary of State George C. Marshall, President Harry S. Truman, comedian-singer Al Jolson and Jackie Robinson. The Oct. 5 standings for positions six to 10 were, in order, Jackie Robinson, President Truman, General MacArthur, Secretary Marshall and Al Jolson. First five standings remained the same. Bing Crosby tops the list with Frank Sinatra running a close second.

Prospect Youth Hurt As Auto Overturns

Glen Gray, 15, of Prospect, suffered lacerations on his arms and head when the car in which he was a passenger skidded and overturned about a mile east of Richwood on state route 47 at 9:59 p. m. yesterday, the state patrol reported.

He was treated by Dr. W. P. Drake of Richwood.

Driver of the car, Richard Walter Knickle, 18, of near Prospect, was uninjured. The car was badly damaged.

AMVETS Sponsor Contest To Boost Handicapped Drive

In connection with the promotion of Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, the Marion county AMVETS are sponsoring a contest for all persons with physical handicaps or limitations, veterans or non-veterans.

The nearly four-score physically handicapped listed with the Marion OSES office have been asked to compete for a $25 cash award for the best answer to "Why I Feel the Worker with Physical Limitations if Properly Placed would be as good an employee as a worker without Physical Limitations."

The announcement of the contest was made by Paul Simpson AMVETS commander. The contest is approved by H. H. Douthitt, chairman of the NEPH committee. The committee pointed out that while a great many employers have found it profitable to employ physically handicapped persons, there are still a great many employers who feel that because of a person's physical limitations, he is not as productive as a non-handicapped person and their industrial risks are greater. Therefore the committee feels that no one is more qualified to give practical reasons why employers may benefit from hiring physically limited workers on jobs for which they are fitted than the person with such a handicap.

The committee also pointed out that the answer was needed from this group to help convince employers not already sold on using the physically handicapped that it is good business to hire the handicapped worker.

Answers to the $25 question must be contained in a maximum of 200 words, typed or longhand and be in the hands of Commander Simpson by Oct. 11, according to the rules of the contest.

Minister Is Chosen By Hepburn Charge

Conducting services for the coming conference year in the Hepburn charge of the Evangelical United Brethren church, which includes Hepburn, Hopewell and Otterbein churches, will be E. A. Griswold. He was recently chosen for this charge by the congregations of the churches.

A graduate of Defiance High school, Mr. Griswold attended college there and has completed a year in the Bethel Christian Congregational church at Arthur, O. He plans to attend Ohio Northern university this year.

At Hepburn, services will be held next Sunday at 10 a. m. followed by Sunday school. A worship service will be held at Otterbein next Sunday at 11 a. m., with the Sunday school hour preceding. Hopewell church will hold its service the following Sunday, Oct. 19, with Sunday school at 10 o'clock and the worship service at 11.

GOOD GRAPE CROP SEEN

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O., Oct. 9 — Lake county's grape crop should be at least four times larger than last year's, County Agent F. Glenn Haskins said today. He urged growers to begin picking immediately and estimated the harvest would last three more weeks.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF W. C. T. U. FRIDAY

More Than 200 Expected from Six County Units.

Approximately 200 W.C.T.U. members, representing the six units in the county, are expected to be present at the annual convention of the Marion County W.C.T.U. Friday at the First Evangelical United Brethren church on South Prospect street.

At the morning session, scheduled to begin at 10:30, Rev. Ellis Guthrie, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, will give the devotions. Reports by local presidents and county leaders will be given and special music will be presented.

Election of officers will be a highlight of the afternoon session which is to get underway at 1:30, and guest speaker will be Rev. R. A. Maugans, pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church. Greetings will be extended by the county president, Mrs. C. A. Thomas, and the devotions will be by Mrs. Fred Upton a member of the Florence Richards Union.

Installation of the newly elected officers will be conducted by Mrs. Ed Ellington of the Anna Gordon Union and Mrs. Edson Stanley, county vice president, will conduct a memorial service in tribute to those who have died in the last year. Other numbers on the program will be a playlet, "Mrs. Going-To," by members of the different groups, and special music.

A potluck dinner, will be served at noon at the church community house.

Police Chief To Attend Annual State Meeting

Police Chief William E. Marks and Mrs. Marks will leave tomorrow to attend the sixteenth annual conference of the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police to be held at Springfield.

Headquarters for the two-day convention will be at the Hotel Shawnee. More than 60 chiefs are expected to attend the Friday and Saturday workshop sessions. Chief L. W. Merico of Columbus heads the state association.

Topics to be under discussion will include the following: mutual assistance in law enforcement, police training problems, police cooperation and juvenile delinquency.

LABOR PRESS O.K.'D BY BALL

Senator Says Union Publications Won't Be Interfered with Under New Law.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Senator Ball (R-Minn) told unions today that in his opin on there will be "no attempt to interfere with freedom of the labor press" under the Taft-Hartley act.

As chairman of the senate-house committee set up by the act to keep an eye on labor-management relations, Ball also said:

►The "watchdog" committee will avoid participation in any current labor-management dispute.

►Empoyes and unions are filing most of the cases under the act with "only 13 per cent of employers against unions."

►The new law is working well with "no major defects to date."

No Infringement Intended

Ball said it was not the intent of congress to infringe on the right of union newspapers and periodicals to print political news.

Some union leaders have raised the free press issue because the Taft-Hartley act bans use of union funds for political contributions and expenditures.

"The question is involved only where a union paper is supported by the union treasury instead of subscriptions," Ball said, adding that the court eventually must clarify this point.

He said that in the past some union periodicals had been used as "political campaign advertisements" for or against certain congressional candidates with the union treasury footing the cost.

Given Free Hand

"We don't care who publishes a record on congressmen," Ball said. "They can also publish any resolutions about anyone."

Ball's comment came after the 14-man senate-house committee ended two days of closed-door conferences here yesterday.

"We agreed that this committee is not to be used as a sounding board where there is a current labor dispute," Ball said. "That would put the committee in the light of being biased, and destroy our usefulness. We want to do an objective fact-finding job."

Ball said a committee study of 400 unfair labor practice cases under the Taft-Hartley act showed that 329 were filed against employers and "only 71 against labor unions."

MRS. HANNAH SHOVER RITES

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 9—Funeral services are to be held Friday afternoon at Jerome for Mrs. Hannah Shover, 74, who died Tuesday. She is survived by her husband, A. W. Shover, two sons by a previous marriage, Marion and Delmore South and three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Thompson and Mrs. Flora Holtsberry of Marysville and Mrs. Glenna Smith of Columbus.

Ohio Restaurants Fall In Line with Food Plan

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9—The Ohio Restaurant association was in line with President Truman's food conservation drive today, but only after hostess predicted the program would be ineffective.

Robert H. Williams, executive vice president of the association said he expected compliance on poultry-less menus today to be very spotty because many restaurants prepare some of the fare several days in advance.

The trustees adopted a six point resolution that argued meatless days in World War I had failed to conserve food, that meatless days again would fail to conserve food or reduce prices, and also was discriminatory against persons who must patronize public eating houses.

A nine-man committee named to confer with President Truman and determine what he expects from the conservation program included:

C. H. Turner of Columbus, chairman; George Geyer of Xenia; Hubert Heilman of Lorain; Fred Surlas of Mt. Vernon, and Frank Braun of Springfield.

12 HURT IN VIOLENCE AT OHIO STEEL FIRM

By The Associated Press

ASHTABULA, O., Oct. 9 — Workers attempting to return to their jobs at Lake City Malleable, Inc., were blocked by about 100 strikers yesterday and in the ensuing row between 10 and 12 men were cut and bruised, the company reported.

In addition, said Company President H. J. Redhead, 15 to 20 automobiles were damaged by flying missiles in the first scuffle since Local 3375 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) struck seven weeks ago.

The union went out in a disagreement over several clauses in a new work contract. Redhead said. He claimed a "goon squad" from Youngstown was largely responsible and said the workers averaged better than $1.40 an hour.

Ted Weiss, staff representative of the Steelworkers here, said the scuffle was a mistake.

"We have tried to negotiate peacefully but the boys will only stand so much and took matters into their own hands," he said.

Cunja and Jakasa were taken by automobile to Mendoza, Argentina, just across the border.

It was announced officially just before midnight that President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla had notified President Juan D. MARION BANKERS AT GROUP 6 MEETING

One Day District Session Held at Mansfield.

Representatives of local banks joined others from central and northern Ohio for a one-day meeting of Group Six of the Ohio Bankers association, yesterday at Mansfield. Speaker for the meeting was Charles W. McBride of West Salem, president of the state association.

Citing the services Ohio banks are rendering for the improvement of agriculture, Mr. McBride urged banks and all other lines of business to take part in the conservation program of the state. Approximately 350 bankers attended the meeting.

"The depletion of our farms and natural resources", McBride said, "is near the critical point but we still have time to save the day if every one does something about it now".

H. E. Cook, former Bucyrus banker, now director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C., and former chairman of the group and president of the state association, reported on the current strong position of both banks and the corporation. David M. Auch, executive manager of the association spoke on current banking subjects. Charles W. Carvin of the Industrial Rayon Corp., of New York was the dinner speaker.

W. B. Kuhn of the Citizens bank of Shelby, presided as chairman of the group. During the business session Paul A. Warner of the Knox County Savings Bank, Mt. Vernon, conducted a forum on current bank policies. Participating were Virgil L. Cox of the Farmers Bank, Ashland; Paul M. Eliot of the Farmers Savings and Trust Co., Mansfield, and John E. Wise of the Willard United Bank.

Among the resolutions adopted was one advocating a study of local public convenience by banks considering adoption of Saturday closing.

Officers of the group in addition to Chairman Kuhn are E. B. Gangware, of the Third National Exchange Bank, Sandusky, vice chairman; and E. W. Stiffler of the Farmers Bank, Ashland, secretary-treasurer.

Attending from Marion were Francis Huber, a member of the state bank management committee, Floyd Cornely, assistant cashier, Maynard Smith and Robert Murphy of the Fahey Banking Co., Ralph White, Walter Haldeman, Ralph Hurr, Dale Schmidt and Henry Baker of the National City Bank.

Banks in the following counties were represented at the meeting: Ashland, Crawford, Erie, Huron, Knox, Marion, Morrow, Richland and Wyandot.

But as the supersonic barrier is approached these same air waves alter their shapes, that is, they curl back down again so quickly that they strike the plane's tail. That makes control difficult. This standing wave as it is called does not come on as abruptly as the compression effect, but is probably part of the compression or associated with it.

The UN noted at the same time that there was no other business for the full assembly, either, because none of the six main committees meeting here daily has yet completed work on a single item to be passed on to the full body. The slowness of work has produced estimates that the session may run into December.

OFFICER ACQUITTED OF STRIKING P.O.W.'S

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 9—Lt. (JG) Richard F. Gascoigne was ready to return to duty today after a Navy general court martial acquitted him of charges of mistreating fellow war prisoners in Japan.

The supply corps officer was found innocent yesterday of all four specifications (that he struck three fellow prisoners and informed to the Japanese on another's salt thefts) and of the general charge of "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline."

The seven-officer trial board reached its decisions in the second day of deliberations, ending the public trial which started Sept. 2.

The 28-year-old Lorain, O., officer denied during this trial that he had informed on a soldier, James B. Wilson of East St. Louis, Ill., causing him to be beaten by the Japanese.

Gascoigne admitted fist fights with three other soldiers—Russell E. Beasley of Casey, Ill., Victor Arnaud of Great Falls, Mont., and Robert L. Dunlap of Carlsbad, N. M.—but claimed that fists were the accepted means at the prison camp of settling arguments.

A majority is required to reach a decision in a court martial, but it was not disclosed whether the court was divided or unanimous.

Lt. Cmdr. Edward N. Little, who was acquitted by similar accusations by a Washington, D. C., court martial several months ago, testified in his behalf.

Gascoigne, then an enlisted storekeeper 1/c, was mess sergeant at the camp and immediately responsible to Little.

AFL CONVENTION MOURNS DEATH OF CHIEF COUNSEL

Joseph A. Padway Stricken During Speech Before Assembly.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9—Death of 56-year-old Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the American Federation of Labor, threw the AFL convention into stunned grief today and delayed a prospective showdown over John L. Lewis' refusal to sign a non-Communist oath.

Padway was fatally stricken midway in a long and violent attack on the Taft-Hartley act on the convention platform yesterday. He died less than eight hours later in Stanford hospital, shocking the 700 delegates and AFL laders who had cheered his remarks without knowing he had sustained a stroke on the speaker's platform.

President William Green, visibly shaken when informed of the attorney's passing, said: "Judge Padway died as he lived, fighting for the cause of labor."

He arranged for a memorial service this morning, which previously had been set aside for a speech by Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark, commanding the Sixth Army.

GALION DIESEL PLAN MAY RESULT IN SUIT

Taxpayers' Court Action Seen Probable Today.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 9—Out of Tuesday night's question of legality of the purchase of a new Diesel generating equipment for the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant which arose during the regular City Council proceedings, may come a taxpayers' suit, it was reliably learned today.

Legality of the purchase of the diesel was questioned by Attorney Kenneth M. Petri Tuesday night when he told council that the resolution, passed last spring for the purchase of the diesel, was irregular because: it was not advertised, and that it did not separately provide for the cost of labor and the cost of material to be purchased. He also contended that at the time of its passage the city did not have sufficient funds for the purchase of the equipment, nor was the money in the process of collection, as required by state law.

Petri's charges brought an answer from City Solicitor Robert L. Moulton who said that the determination by council to purchase Diesel equipment was in the form of a resolution which did not require publication, and that it did not call for an expenditure of public funds.

Possibility that an injunction will be sought if Council goes ahead with the purchase of the diesel, and the construction of a building to house it, appeared probable today. Council passed an ordinance, Tuesday night, authorizing Service Director K. A. Poister to employ an architect to draw up plans and specifications for the construction of the additional building at the Galion light plant to house the new Diesel.

Objection to the purchase of a diesel has been voiced by manufacturers and business men who have been anxious to see city officials proceed with steps to bring in electrical energy from an outside utility to supplement that generated by the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant.

Dopesters See Lausche As Truman Running Mate

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—The name of former Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, who has been a frequent visitor at the White House during the last year, is being mentioned in Washington political gossip as a possibility for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in 1948.

Lausche has strong backing for another try at the governorship, which he lost to Republican Thomas Herbert in the last state election, but a campaign for governor would not foreclose consideration of Lausche for the national ticket.

ADMITS KILLING WIFE

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 9—Rubert Kelble, 31, was held on a homicide charge today and sheriff's Lieut. Alfred Bartkowiak said the man had admitted orally he "must have" killed his 25-year-old wife Roseanne. Mrs. Kelble was found strangled on a bed in their home Sunday. Kelble was lying in an adjoining room, his wrists slashed four times. The officer said Kelble told of an argument over family finances and said he had been slapped by Mrs. Kelble.

DEMOLAY ELECTION

Donald Kelly was elected senior councilor of Marion Chapter No. 288, Order of DeMolay, last night at the Masonic temple. Charles Ulrich was elected junior councilor, and Glen Massie was advanced from junior councilor to master councilor. The election was made necessary by resignation of Richard Eckert, formerly master councilor, and Warren Meister, senior councilor, who have entered school. New councilors will serve until the end of the term, Dec. 30. Plans were made for a hay ride Oct. 18.

First GI Dead To Reach San Francisco Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9—With 3,012 caskets and 16 urns stacked in her forward holds, the grey Army cargo ship Honda Knot will steam slowly into San Francisco bay tomorrow bearing the remains of the first of America's World War II dead.

The Army has never designated a code word for the two-year operation which will bring 226,000 bodies back from 454 military cemeteries throughout the world. But unofficially the precedure has become known as "operation taps."

Most of the remains are those of the men first to die—victims of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. Also aboard are remains of men who died in the China-Burma-India theater—men of all services and civilians who died while attached to these services.

AIRLINER FLIP-FLOPS BUT LANDS SAFELY

By The Associated Press

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 9—Half a hundred persons called themselves lucky today as experts probed the innards of an airlines flagship for a clue to the mysterious spin that flopped it upside down and shook up passengers and crew 8,000 feet above the earth.

None of the 53 aboard yesterday was seriously injured. Capt. Charles Sisto, pilot, wrestled the four-engine American Airlines DC-4 back to normal and made an emergency landing here. Most of the passengers continued their flight from Dallas to Los Angeles in another plane.

Shortly after passing El Paso, Sisto said the plane on automatic pilot went into a steep climb. Before he could right it with manual control it dived 5,000 feet and flew upside down.

"People and pieces of baggage were flying through the air," said Clyde Miller, Oakland, Calif., Navy yard civilian employe. "The passengers were shouting and screaming. Children were crying. Only a few passengers had safety belts fastened."

Charles H. Colvin, Washington, D. C., member of President Truman's air policy commission, commented the passengers were "remarkably calm." He gave no opinion as to the cause of the flip-flop.

Vicious Tropical Typhoon Batters Tiny Iwo Jima

By The Associated Press

GUAM, Oct. 9—A vicious tropical typhoon accompanied by a 160-mile winds battered tiny Iwo Jima today, causing severe damage to American installations and an unknown number of casualties.

The typhoon for a time blotted out communications with the small Army caretaker garrison on the famous island battleground of World War II.

There were no further details.

Reports received by Chinese shipping firms at Hong Kong, China, said a rushing wall of water believed generated by a typhoon struck Swatow, China, yesterday, bringing death and injuries to hundreds and demolishing hundreds of homes.

"Early Christmas" Boy Survives 2nd Operation

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Oct. 9—Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman, whose Christmas-in-November in 1944 aroused the sympathy and generosity of the nation, was reported in "very satisfactory" condition today following a critical operation.

The six-year-old Cheyenne, Wyo., lad probably will undergo another kidney operation in January similar to that performed yesterday. The surgeon who operated was the same one who successfully performed surgery on a bladder obstruction of the boy's three years ago.

The bladder obstruction had led his parents to provide Nubbins an early Christmas celebration in the belief he might not live.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

When the auxiliary to G.I. Post No. 584, American Legion, met at the clubrooms Tuesday night, discussion was held on dues, Mrs. Gerald Messenger and Mrs. William Tuskes were chosen representatives to the Federated Veterans council, and a ways and means committee was appointed. The committee includes Mrs. Peter Joyce, Mrs. Joseph Montroy and Mrs. Tuskes. Officers and members were invited to attend the installation for the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162 at the Legion Dugout Oct. 13, preceded by dinner. It was announced that a special committee will meet in the home of Mrs. Worley Cole on Hudson court Oct. 16. A social meeting and costume party, to which husbands of members are invited, will be held Oct. 21.

"Bud" Gollum Offered Burlesque House Job

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9—George "Bud" Gollum, acquitted with Beulah Louise Overell of murdering her parents, was offered a $500-a-week job in a Main street burlesque house today.

Gollum's attorney, William B. Berne, reported the offer. He said Gollum also has received offers of university scholarship and a job as contact man at women's wear conventions. Gollum turned down the burlesque job. He did not comment on the other offers.

Ohio Boy's Tongue Torn On Deep Freeze Valve

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9—A four-year-old boy, who was believed to have mistaken a valve on a deep freeze cabinet for a drinking fountain, was suffering today from a torn tongue muscle and loss of a piece of skin.

Mrs. Mary Demko, mother of the youth, Joseph, said she was making a purchase in a catering company store when she heard him scream.

Finding his tongue stuck to the refrigerated cabinet, she first tried to pull him away, then grabbed the tongue. It came loose but a piece of skin remained

Iberia Students Tell Of "Second Frontier"

Special to The Star

IBERIA — Iberia Vocational Agriculture students attended a "Second Frontier" demonstration on two large farms in Licking county recently. The project entailed the cooperation and work of hundreds of men and power machinery to completely transform run down land into contoured, reforested and productive fields rich in nutritive value, according to high school students. The stupendous task was completed in one day and is a forward step in line with the soil conservation service program.

John See described the building of a large farm pond in a few hours with power shovels, bull dozers, tractors and even jeeps were used. Terraces were built and gullies filled in to prevent soil erosion. Fences were built at the rate of a post per minute with special motor augers.

Beverly Worster told of a display of old type farm equipment compared with our present modern machinery, the WLW Television Sets, Ohio State highway displays, and explained in detail how the soil was fed a balanced ration of lime and fertilizer to produce grain and pasture with proper elements to grow healthy people and livestock.

• • •

Members of Iberia School's seventh grade class were entertained at the home of Vialo Guinther recently following a wiener roast and recreation planned by the executive committee, Thelma Fisher, Richard Borders and Donald Carter.

Randall Schreck was chosen president and other officers are Carol Ann Phillips, Jimmie Sautter, Rex Riddle, Dorothy Edgar, Dickie Hall and Mr. Durkee, class advisor.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Riddle and family spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Harley Lyons at Pine Bluff, Ark. Mr. Lyons is the manager of a 32,000 acre plantation which covers a 21 mile area. The farming is carried on from a map. The Riddles viewed cotton picking and rice combining operations, winter oats sowing and broadcasting grass seed by airplane.

• • •

A recreation group was formed recently by young men of the Iberia Senior High school for the purpose of planned recreation during the noon hour. Officers are Dick Hendershot and Grover Nelson.

The organization of a softball league and its supervision, various table games with committees set up to be in charge of each room have been worked out with the boys in cooperation with Supt. Earl Bowman and Coach Ronald Sommerville. Others participating are Gene Osborn, Gerald Miley, Francis Parr, Bill Haga, Kenneth Ernst, Dale Miller, John See, Ivan Sipes, Arden Garverick, Beverly Worster, Dick Nelson, Lyle Mann, Dean Warner, Don See, Bill Sager, and Cecil Miller.

Virgil Dye Named Marion Head of March of Dimes

Virgil F. Dye, manager of Hotel Harding has been named chairman for the annual March of Dimes campaign which is scheduled to be held next February.

Mr. Dye will succeed Odell Thompson, manager of The City Loan, who has been in charge of the campaign for the past three years.

Dr. Frederick Rea, chairman of the Marion County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced Mr. Dye's appointment after he was recently chosen by a committee named for that purpose. Committee members included Paul Bachman, Bernard Meloney and Mr. Thompson.

Mr. Dye said he would appoint his committee at a later date. According to tentative plans now the annual president's ball will not be held this year as in previous years. Dr. Rea said the chapter members will concentrate more on the actual campaign.

MRS. HELEN P. NELSON

District Nurses To Hear Speaker At Monday Meeting

As coordinator of the project for cerebral palsy of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, Mrs. Helen P. Nelson will be guest speaker for a meeting of District No. 7, Ohio State Nurses Association, Monday evening at the Federation Home.

Mrs. Nelson, who has served in this capacity since February, 1946, has had extensive training and experience in aiding the handicapped, particularly in physical therapy. She received a B.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin and an M.S. degree from Wessesley college in "Research on Motor Skills." Her physical therapy training was at Harvard Medical school. After becoming associated with the Ohio Society, Mrs. Nelson took a course on celebral palsy, and since then, has helped to formulate the Ohio Society's project for cerebral palsy, with the guidance of a professional advisory committee.

A coordinator for the Ohio society, Mrs. Nelson works with public and private agencies in developing services for cerebral palsied children. She is at present assisting local groups to set up treatment centers where such children may receive physical, occupational and speech therapy.

Another important phase of Mrs. Nelson's work is giving the public the facts about cerebral palsy through her frequent speeches at meetings and on the radio.

The Ohio Society is a private organization which has worked in behalf of the handicapped since 1919, and is supported by voluntary contributions through an annual Easter Seal sale.

Two Fire Calls
City firemen answered two calls this morning, one of them involving an estimated $10 loss to a load of hay. A hay wagon in the driveway of 567 Thompson street, set on fire by five-year-old John Vernon Street while playing with matches, was put out by firemen at 10:22 a. m. today, Chief Stiffler said. The hay wagon is owned by Eugene Prine. Firemen answered a second call at 10:36 a. m. when a discarded cigaret set fire to an elevator shaft in the Universal Cooler storage plant on Lincoln avenue. Three engines answered the call, but no damage was reported.

TRUMAN ASKS WOMEN'S HELP

Can Contribute to Welfare of U. S. by Backing Food Plan, He Says.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—President Truman said yesterday American women can make "an invaluable contribution" to the welfare of the nation and the world by whole-hearted support to our food saving program."

In a nationwide radio address in connection with Democratic women's day, the President said also women have a great opportunity" to make their "wholesome influence increasingly effective" in building a better world "by the full use of your power at the ballot box."

Mr. Truman said the responsibility for the success of the food-saving program "rests very largely with the American housewife."

"She is an indispensable fighter in our war against hunger," he went on. "The American housewife has never failed her country when she has been called upon to sacrifice in its interest. I know that she will not fail in the great task now before us."

Can Make Progress

If the women of America, he went on, "exert the tremendous moral force for good which they possess we shall make greater and more lasting progress in overcoming the other difficulties that concern us and the world."

Declaring as a nation "we stand now on the threshold of a wonderful opportunity, unique in history," Mr. Truman added:

"We are a thriving country. The facts of our high employment and our great farm and industrial production speak for themselves. We are a strong and peace-loving nation.

"The United States, more than any other nation, is in a position to give reality to the four freedoms. The United States should and can be the first nation in which the people—all the people—are free from fear, free to speak and to write as their hearts dictate and free to worship as they will.

"No Idle Dream"

"This is no idle dream. It is a goal well within the power of this mighty nation of ours to achieve."

The President said the nation can not falter "in our increasing quest for a just, permanent peace in the world," and added:

"In this undertaking, the women of the United States have a great opportunity and a great responsibility to play the decisive part."

Urging them to vote, he said foreign nations "are deeply interested in the size of our vote" because the United States is the "foremost example of democratic government in the world."

Cub Pack 29 Holds First Meeting of Season

Pack 29 of the Boy Scouts, sponsored by Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, held the first fall meeting last night at the community house with Herman Powelson, cubmaster, in charge. Sixteen parents and 17 members of the pack attended the meeting which was held around a campfire. Committee members Fred Spurlock, Donald Rasey and Robert Griffith were also present.

Attendance award for having most parents present went to Den 3 which is in charge of Mrs. John Rinnert. James Merchant was advanced to the bear rank, William Merchant to wolf rank and Thomas Hearn was awarded denner stripes at the meeting. Theme for next month will be "Cub Scouts, Artists." A discussion on the flag given by Mr. Powelson closed the meeting. Games and contests followed.

About 640 pounds of stock feed are produced from cottonseed in every 500-pound bale of cotton.

Loyalty Test on U. S. Employes Seeks To Locate Communists

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Here's an explanation of the check being made on the loyalty of about 1,600,000 government employes.

They're the ones working for the government's executive branch, like the labor, treasury and commerce departments.

(There's no checking being done on people working for congress or the federal courts.)

James Marlow

The purpose of all this: To fire persons considered disloyal, which means tied up with Communists or Fascists.

President Truman asked for the check. Congress voted $11,000,000 for it last July. The checking officially started Oct. 1.

(Other, very special checks are being made by the state department and by the Army, Navy and atomic energy commission. They'll be explained later in this series).

Mr. Truman said the No. 1 standard for testing loyalty shall be that:

"On all the evidence, reasonable grounds exist for belief that the person involved is disloyal to the government of the United States."

Attorney General Tom Clark has drawn up a list of about 70 organizations which he considers communistic or fascistic, or subversive.

The government agencies checking on loyalty will use Clark's list as a guide. The question arises:

Why should a man be fired from government service for being a Communist when the government permits the Communist party to exist here?

Governments Answer

This is the government answer you'll get:

▶The Communist party can exist because the constitution guarantees the right of free speech to every citizen.

▶But working for the government is a privilege, not a right. Therefore, the government can fire a Communist or Communist sympathizer.

Here's how the check goes:

All 1,600,000 workers are fingerprinted, even though many of them have been fingerprinted before. And they must fill out an "identity" form:

Name, date and place of birth, places where they've lived and worked in the past 10 years and what organizations they've belonged to, other than religious or political.

The FBI gets these two forms and checks them against its fingerprint file and its list of "subversive" people. For example, names of members of the Communist party or organizations in sympathy with Communists.

The case is closed if the FBI finds nothing in this check of its files and if there's no "tip" that a man's disloyal.

(The FBI doesn't check all the way back on everyone. The money voted by congress wouldn't pay for all that. It checks where it's suspicious.

Take Case of Jones

But take the case of Jones. The FBI thinks he needs a real check. It goes away back through its FBI agents all over the country: where he worked, what he said, who his friends were, what organizations he belonged to.

If nothing is found against him, he keeps his job. But suppose the FBI finds something "unfavorable" or "doubtful."

The FBI report goes to the government agency which employs Jones. There a board of three specially appointed men considers his case.

He can't see the evidence and he'll never be told who his accusers are. But he can go before the board with his own attorney and witnesses.

If the board believes him innocent, he keeps his job. If the board thinks he should be fired, Jones can appeal to the head of the agency.

If the agency turns him down, Jones has one last appeal, to a 15-man appeal board.

(Although congress voted the money for the check last July, the board has not been set up yet. Government officials are supposed to pick 15 outstanding citizens for the board so accused persons get a fair deal.)

The board—it will be divided up into five panels of three men each to handle different cases—can call Jones in personally to defend himself or it can judge him on the evidence.

No one in the executive branch so far has been fired as a result of this general loyalty check, according to officials who point out the check started officially only Oct. 1.

(The state department, which is in the executive branch, has fired people. As pointed out, though, it's doing a special checking job.)

People looking for jobs in the executive branch get pretty much the same checking over as those now employed there.

School Art Teachers Return from Meeting

Miss Edith Keeler, elementary art supervisor and Miss Margaret Dumm, instructor of art in the junior-senior high schools have returned from Columbus where Friday and Saturday they attended the state meeting of the Art section of the Ohio Education association.

Nationally known educators and artists emphasized the critical need for the arts in our society today and the necessity for creative art experience for all individuals.

Dr. Victor Lowenfeld of State College, Pa., showed how the art experience opens a field for determining a child's readiness for learning and Dr. Wen Lyn Sprague, in charge of mental rehabilitation in Ohio emphasized the importance of art in his program.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS

The executive board of the Union of King's Daughters and Tuesday afternoon to discuss plans for the state convention to be held in Marion Oct. 21-23. The meeting was held in the reading room of the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. W. E. M... president of the city union, was in charge.

Guide To "Minute Meals"

MINT PEAS . . . For a quick and easy dish . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

More and more women are interested these days in preparing delectable food which takes as little time and trouble as possible to cook. "Just A Minute," by Alice Wilson Richardson (Procyon Press—1947) is written for those women. It isn't a complete cookbook. It doesn't pretend to be. But it has some of the most original, easiest to prepare recipes I've seen in a long time.

The book contains material on utensils, shortcuts and tricks, an especially fine chart on the use of herbs. Naturally, anyone who writes on quick cookery in these times includes general material on the advantages of quick frozen foods and of pressure cooking.

The greater part of the book is devoted to quick entrees and easy menus. Right there beside the menu (with variations) is given the recipe for the main dish. Other recipes (starred) are to be found later in the book. For example:

For Dinner: Lamb or Skewers; Turkish Rice; Mixed Green Salad; Coffee. Variations: The Dish; French Fried Onions; Garlic Rolls; Fruit Bowl; Coffee. Variation II: Tomato and Beef Consomme; The Dish: Scallions with Sour Cream; Broiled Grapefruit; Coffee.

Lamb On Skewers

2 pounds lamb, ½ pound medium-sized mushrooms, 3 tablespoons olive oil, Oregano, Thyme, salt and pepper, 1 bay leaf, 4 medium-sized tomatoes, 4 cloves garlic.

Serves 4. Time: about 30 minutes.

Have butcher cut lamb in 1½ inch cubes. Stem mushrooms. Place lamb and mushroom caps on platter. Pour odive oil in glass jar and add pinch of Oregano, thyme, salt and pepper and crumbled bay leaf. Shake well and pour over lamb and mushrooms. Let stand for half an hour or more, turning them at intervals so they will become well marinated. Cut tomatoes in quarters and garlic cloves in half. Thread ingredients on metal skewers, alternating lamb, mushrooms, tomatoes and garlic. Cook skewers on broiling pan 4 inches from medium flame. When brown on one side, turn and brown on other. This may also be cooked over charcoal.

Tomato and Beef Consomme

1 can tomato juice, 1 can beef consomme, thyme, 2 tablespoons sherry, 4 tablespoons sour cream.

Heat tomato juice, consomme and pinch of thyme to boiling point. Add sherry and pour in bouillon cups. Drop 1 tablespoon of sour cream on top of each.

Mint Peas

2 pounds peas, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, mint leaves.

Put peas in saucepan with 1 cup boiling water. Add sugar, vinegar, and salt. Boil 15 to 20 minutes, covered. Five minutes before they are done add about 10 mint leaves.

This last dish would be even easier made with quick-frozen peas, as I'm sure Alice Richardson would agree. I would suggest that you cook the peas according to directions on the package, drain, and then add the other ingredients just before serving.

Claridon High School Annual Staff Named

MEETING IN BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS, Oct. 9—The Mansfield District Academy of Osteopathic Medicine will meet at 7 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 15 for dinner at "The Pub" here. A symposium on "Polio" will follow the dinner.

VETERANS' NEWS AND INFORMATION

Prepared by The Public Relations Service, Veterans Administration, Branch Office No. 6, 52 S. Starling street, Columbus, 8, Ohio. Phone Main 6361; Ext. 281.

VA Explains Insurance Provisions of GI Loans

World War II veterans may negotiate home, farm and business loans under the GI Bill on an insured instead of a guaranteed basis, Veterans Administration officials point out

Loans may be guaranteed up to 50 per cent of the principal of the loan, but not to exceed $4,000 on a real estate loan, or $2,000 on a non-realty loan. Loans may be insured for a maximum of 15 per cent of the principal of the loan, but not to exceed the $4,000 and $2,000 limits

VA officials said that if a lending institution agrees with a veteran to use the loan insurance instead of the government's 50 per cent guarantee, it notifies VA, which sets up an insurance account with the lender and enters to the lender's credit an amount equal to 15 per cent of the loan

Insurance on loans is available only through supervised lenders, which include those subject to examination and supervision by state and federal authorities. VA will reimburse the lender for any losses on any loan up to the aggregate amount of insurance credited to the account of that lender.

Loans may be either guaranteed or insured at the option of the borrower and the lender Under an insured plan, the veteran gains an advantage as a smaller amount of his guaranty entitlement is used (15 per cent instead of 50 per cent). However, it is likely the lender will require a sizable cash down payment on this type of loan, because the security afforded by the 15 per cent insurance is comparatively small

Application for any loan to be guaranteed or insured must be made within 10 years of discharge or July 25, 1947, whichever occurs later Farm loans must be repaid within 40 years, other realty loans within 25 years and non-realty (business) loans within 10 years.

Amputee Vets Eligible For Spare Appliances

Veterans Administration reminds amputee veterans who are eligible for artificial limbs at government expense that they are entitled to a spare limb for each amputation

VA branch office officials in Columbus said veterans entitled to artificial limbs may obtain appliances of their choice from any approved manufacturer under contract with VA in one of three cities nearest their residence. If a veteran lives in a city or town having an approved limb manufacturer, that city or town is included among the three from which he must choose

After delivery of the limb, a veteran has a two-week trial period in which to determine whether it fits and functions properly If the limb is unsatisfactory, the veteran notifies the VA office through which he obtained it. In applying for spare limbs, veterans should wait six to 12 months to allow for the inevitable physical changes in amputations

VA recently announced the development of three new artificial arms, known as the Northrop, Fitch and Hosmer arms, as result of the government's prosthetic research program. Veterans who have been issued both a permanent and spare artificial arm may obtain one of the new-type arms provided the appliance can be satisfactorily fitted

Veterans desiring additional information concerning VA's prosthetic appliance program should contact their nearest VA office

VA estimates there are 3,100 leg and arm amputees in the tri-state Columbus branch office area, including 1,100 in Ohio

Artificial limbs may be replaced by VA if the need arises through "fair wear and tear," VA officials said.

VA Rehab Program Aids Hard-of-Hearing Vets

World War II veterans who suffered hearing impairments in service are eligible for a special program of medical rehabilitation which Veterans Administration has established to help them overcome their handicap

VA officials in Columbus say eligible veterans may take advantage of this program whether they require medical attention to improve their hearing or whether they need rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of a permanent hearing impairment

The complete rehabilitation course includes a series of hearing and speech tests, the selection and fitting of a hearing aid if indicated, auditory training, lip reading instruction and speech correction if necessary.

VA has contracts with several institutions to give all or a part of the complete rehabilitation course These include the Cleveland Speech and Hearing Center at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, and Ohio State university, Columbus.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D

Foot Ailments

As long ago as 1876, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania described a peculiar pain which was confined to the forepart of the foot Though limited to a small area, the pain was so agonizing that the patient would stop in the street, remove his shoe and grasp the foot in the hand in an attempt to gain relief

Today, we call this condition metatarsalgia and it is only recently that we have gained any idea as to what causes it. The professor of 1876, who described it so well, believed it to be due to pressure on one of the joints of the toes, but later investigators are convinced that pressure on a nerve in the same area is the real cause

The pain is often so severe as to be excruciating It appears only while walking and tends to pass into the fourth toe Sometimes there is swelling of the front part of the foot.

In the early stages of this condition, there may be some increased sensitivity of the skin with a slight redness and some swelling in the sole of the foot close to the bones of affected toes Usually there is no tenderness, though the pain may be made worse by bending the toes backward

It is thought that the wearing of improper shoes may be a contributory cause for this disorder In any event, the pain is often so severe that treatment must be promptly carried out

In some cases, the condition may be relieved by rest and the wearing of a properly fitting shoe in which there is a pad to support the front part of the foot A bar of leather may be put across the middle of the sole of the shoe But these corrections should only be made under proper guidance

If these measures do not relieve the disorder, an operation is often necessary. In one type of operation, it is suggested by some surgeons that the heads of the front metatarsal bone be cut away. Others do not advise this, but think that the cutting of small nerves which seem to be affected may suffice to bring about permanent relief.

Pain in the front of the foot may be produced by conditions other than metatarsalgia. For example, there may be arthritis or inflammation between the joints of the metatarsal bones and the bones of the toes.

Sometimes there is pain in the front part of the foot following severe exercise such as tennis. Bruising of the bony surfaces in the joints or inflammation of the tendons which connect muscles with bones will also cause pain.

In most of these conditions, relief is rapidly brought about by rest and the application of heat, and support of the front part of the foot as described above.

Of course, when pain in the foot occurs an examination by an orthopedic specialist is advisable. X-rays can be taken and a definite diagnosis made, and the most effective measures for relieving the condition may be employed

Durocher Hints He's "In" With Dodgers

Holds Conference with Rickey, Informs Newsmen He's Very Happy with Result

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—Leo Durocher flew back to the west coast today leaving behind the impression that he was in the good graces of his boss, Branch Rickey, and that his chances of regaining his old job as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers were better than fair.

Boarding a plane at LaGuardia airport for Los Angeles last night, Durocher, whose season-long suspension ended with the last putout of the World Series, was his old wise-cracking, loquacious self. Jovial and smiling as he and Laraine Day, his film actress wife, waited for the take-off, Durocher revealed that he had a three and a half hour conference with the Dodger president and was "very happy with the result."

"Obviously, I can't tell you what went on, and any statement will have to come from Mr. Rickey," Durocher told reporters who came to see him off. He admitted that the job situation was discussed.

The strongest clue that Leo may already have been re-hired or will be soon came from Miss Day who jokingly told one of the reporters that she was considering purchasing a book on "how to speak Spanish in 10 easy lessons." The Dodgers are considering an offer to train in the Dominican Republic.

Durocher plainly was in high spirits over his talk with Rickey. "Mr. Rickey and I had a very friendly discussion," said Leo, revealing that Rickey had summoned him for a 5 p. m. appointment which lasted until 8:30 p. m. "He spoke to me like a father to a son. It was an amicable, pleasant talk all around."

Leo said he had no further appointment with Rickey but that one might be forthcoming soon. "I wouldn't be surprised if I came back at a minute's notice," he said.

"I'm making no bones about it," he added. "I want very much to manage the Dodgers next year. In fact, I repeat an earlier statement, I want to be with the Dodgers until the day I die. But that is up to Mr. Rickey. The entire matter now is in his hands."

Rickey could not be reached for comment.

Durocher was suspended by Commissioner A. B. Chandler on the eve of the 1947 major league season for "conduct unbecoming a major league manager," following charges brought by Larry MacPhail, retired president of the New York Yankees.

CLEMSON BACK RATES AS BEST BALL TOTER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—Although his team has lost two of its first three games, Bobby Gage of Clemson is the individual ground gaining leader among all the college football players of the country at this early stage in the 1947 season.

Statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau show that Gage has accounted for a total of 646 yards in 81 plays against Presbyterian, Boston college and Wake Forest.

He picked up 445 yards on 19 completed forward passes, four of which went for touchdowns, and also carried the ball 32 times and gained 201 yards.

Rex Olsen of Brigham Young stands second among the leaders in combined rushing and passing, having gained 480 yards on 74 plays. Olsen's record of completing 42 of 69 attempted passes for a total of 490 yards places him at the head of the nation's passers.

His pace in the aerial department, surpassing anything turned in since Davey O'Brien was tossing for Texas Christian in 1937, is far ahead of that at the same stage last year, when Bob De Moss of Purdue led the field at the end of three games with 23 completions in 51 attempts.

Behind Olsen in the passing department comes Conerly with 36 completions followed by Gene Bourdet of Montana State with 31, Van Brocklin with 28 and Jimmy Bowden of Texas Mines and Johnny Rauch of Georgia with 23 each.

Harry Ghaul of Miami is the top punter to date, with an average of 44.8 yards on 12 kicks in two games, while Barney Poole of Mississippi heads the pass receivers, having caught 17 forwards, three of which were for touchdowns.

FULLTIME FOOTBALL OFFICIALS SUGGESTED

Dons Make Proposal; Films Indicate "They Was Robbed."

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9—General Manager Harry Thayer of the Los Angeles Dons made a strong recommendation today to improve football officiating, and at the same time the entire Don organization practiced strong restraint from public utterance after viewing motion pictures of the Dons' 27-25 defeat of Buffalo here last Sunday.

Thayer announced he will ask the All-America football conference at its next meeting to place all officials on an annual salary of not less than $3,000 and junk the present policy of paying them $100 a game.

Thayer carefully refrained from connecting his idea with the Buffalo game, but there was no secret that for non-talking pictures, the movie of the game spoke eloquently.

The two big sequences in the film were the two big scoring plays which were called back, nullified and the Dons penalized to the 10 and 15 yard lines in the last quarter.

The first showed Glenn Dobbs' touchdown pass to Bob Titchenal. Officials said too much time elapsed before the ball was snapped. Observers will swear Dobbs had the ball and had made the turn to pass when the whistle blew.

On the next play, from the 10, Dobbs' scoring end run was called back—backfield in motion, later revised to illegal shift.

The film showed no illegal backfield motion, and the only noticeable shift came when right end Bob Nowaskey, his feet and hands motionless grew weary of the load and let one hip settle slightly.

Back to Thayer's plan, which he said was not original with him, a substantial, set salary; he thinks, would sharpen officials' incentive—and also their officiating.

He said the colleges were welcome to the idea, that they ought to get together and pool officials with the pros. And, with a grin, he said the senior National football league was welcome to come in, too, but he guessed the National wouldn't be interested in anything coming from the All-America. Thayer was formerly with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National.

Baseball hires umpires by the year, he said. Why not football?

PRO FOOTBALL SETS ATTENDANCE RECORD

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—The two-year-old All-American football conference appears to be a husky, vigorous youngster and the venerable National league also is robust in its 28th season if attendance figures to date are any criterion.

An unofficial survey shows that the All-America circuit, nearing the halfway point in its 1947 schedule, may welcome its 1,000,000th customer Sunday. The National league, with play only two weeks old, appears heading towards an all-time attendance record.

Before the 1947 season opened both the league's commissioners, Bert Bell of the National football league, and Jonas H. Ingram of the All-America, announced 2,000,000 spectators as the goal.

In 22 games, the All-America is swinging along at a 40,776 average with 857,064 in attendance. If 142,936 pass through the gates in Sunday's games at Buffalo, Cleveland, San Francisco and New York, the million mark will be attained. In 56 games last year the All-America reported 1,376,998 spectators, an average of 24,589.

In 11 games thus season the National league has attracted 346,241 clients, an average of 31,476, but New York's Polo grounds and Chicago's Wrigley field have not yet started to operate. The New York Giants wait until Oct. 19 for their home opener while the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Bears bring football to Wrigley field Sunday. The Los Angeles Rams open their home schedule Oct. 19 against the Chicago Cardinals.

Last year runaway races by the New York Yankees in the east and the Cleveland Browns in the west held down the crowds in the final half of the All-America campaign. This year the inability of the Chicago Rockets to hold their own against rivals has cut down the league's fan potential.

In 1946 the National league attracted 1,732,135 in 55 games. It should better that figure in 1947 with a 60-game schedule. The circuit's largest crowd to date was the 51,123 which saw the Chicago Cardinals whip the Chicago Bears last Sunday at Comiskey park. The Boston Yanks have drawn 41,185 for two games.

Total attendance for both leagues last year was 3,109,133.

A man running the 100-yard dash in 9.4 (world record time) is traveling about 20 m.p.h.—an antelope has been clocked at 62 m.p.h.

THAT NEW LOOK ON GRIDIRON. These three Michigan State college football stalwarts are right in fashion—they've adapted the designer's "new look" to the gridiron. Note the new longer skirts and the padded hips. The gadgets are also good for avoiding injury in blocking practice.

Irish Polish Pass Defense

A squad of 25 Irish will take off tomorrow night for Marysville where they'll meet the toughest team in the Mid-State league in a fight for league leadership.

Expecting the Monarchs to utilize the deadly passing arm of quarterback Jack McGuire, the Irish this week worked on pass defense. McGuire, incidentally, will reign over an after-game dance as "King" of the Homecoming festivities. Miss Barbara Asman was selected "Queen" for the Homecoming event.

Curly Hill, speedy Monarch halfback who made both touchdowns for Marysville in their 14-12 victory over Richwood last week, will probably see a lot of action as a ball carrier.

No injuries deplete the ranks of the St. Mary Irish, who have been pointing for this league battle. Fullback John Baldauf is back in the starting lineup after an infection had kept him from starting against Tiffin Calvert last week.

The toes of Marysville's Loren Grimes and St. Mary's Dick Werley might determine the Mid-State champions if the game should end up even as far as touchdowns are concerned. Grimes' two conversions in the Richwood game gave Marysville their two point margin of victory, while Irish right tackle Dick Werley is the kicking artist for the locals.

Probably starting Irish lineup: ends, Ed Moloney and Wagner, tackles, Jim Moloney and Werley, guards, Krigbaum and Maniaci, center, Smith, quarterback, Schuller, halfbacks, Murph yand Stuber and fullback, Baldauf.

Probable Monaren starters: ends, Dayton and Kingsmore, tackles, Schwartzkopf and Graves, guards, Woodson and Amrine, center, Palmer, quarterback, McGuire, halfbacks, Hill and White, and fullback, Grimes.

U. S. To Nick MacPhail For $450,00 in Taxes

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Federal taxes may take as much as $450,000 of the $2,000,000 for which Larry MacPhail sold his one-third share of the New York Yankee baseball club.

Tax experts said yesterday that estimate appears justified on the basis of unofficial reports MacPhail bought his interest in the club for $200,000 on Jan. 25, 1945 and sold it for 10 times as much last week.

The $450,000 figure, a maximum, was obtained by applying the 25 per cent federal capital gains tax rate to the apparent $1,800,000 gross profit on MacPhail's investment.

Dan Topping, the new Yankee president, and MacPhail said in New York Tuesday Topping and Del Webb, MacPhail's former partners, had bought Larry's one-third share in the club for $2,000,000. The trio purchased the Yankee holdings in January, 1945, for $2,000,000.

FESLER SAYS O.S.U. WILL BE ALL RIGHT

Gets Ovation from Quarterback Club Despite Defeat.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9—Coach Wesley Fesler made his second appearance before the State Journal Quarterback club last night and predicted that Ohio State university's football team "is going to be all right."

Met by a roar of applause when he stepped before the 700 members, Fesler shouted:

"What's the matter with you guys? Are you crazy? We lost the game!"

He then assured the businessmen and Buckeye backers that the football team would be all right, and a keen,

"You made mistakes in your sophomore year in business, didn't you?"

"They're making mistakes, too. Our only hope is that they get their mistakes out of their systems quickly."

Fesler, coaching his first Buckeye team discussed last Saturday's 24-20 defeat by Purdue and the unimpressive, but victorious, showing against Missouri.

Fesler pointed out the Buckeyes made 5.9 yards per try from scrimmage but commented, "We didn't have the ball enough."

Concerning his 5-4-2 defensive set-up, he contended that much of Purdue's success came when two line players missed assignments, but added,

"We have no alibis. We got our socks knocked off."

Fesler said that while Bob Brugge and Rod Swinehart would not play against Southern California Saturday, the quarterbacks should "Watch Mike Cannavino Saturday—he's a good all-around threat."

Dean Sensanbaugher troubled with an ankle injury, probably will be able to share the right half back spot with Alex Verdova Saturday.

Pandel Savic still is the first string quarterback, Cannavino and Jim Clark appear set for the left halfback chores, and Ollie Cline and Joe Whisler remain alternates.

Harding Worries Over Injuries Which Knock Out Five Tackles

They're sweating out tackle trouble in the Harding camp this week as the tough Lima South game approaches Friday night.

Coach Pete Howison has five tackles on the sick list this week, including regular starters Bob Ralston, nursing a cold, and Jack Hoffman, who may have sustained a crippled shoulder bone in the game last week.

Tackle John Isaly, who hasn't been able to play since the opening game, is still suffering from boils, and Ralph Hogan is out with a bad knee. Jim Kent missed practice earlier this week because of a cold, but may be ready to go Friday night.

Trouble in the line is something Harding can do well without. As it is, the Lima South line outweighs the Presidents some seven pounds per man. Blue and Gold linemen average 181 pounds, while the Presidents average 174 pounds.

Lima has not escaped injuries either. They took a pretty good drubbing from Middletown last week which sent several of their boys to the sick bay. Halfbacks Dick Putt and Norman Downing are out of Lima games the last two weeks with injuries might be ready to go against Harding.

Lima's 190-pound right guard, Dick Thomas, who called signals last year, and left end Don Brogee twice a letterman are wingpins of the Lima line and are in most of the tackling action.

Expecting to need all the extra points he can get Friday night, Prexy Coach Pete Howison has had his boys working on kicking this week with Bob Snort, Jack Bishop and Jack Hoffman booting placements, and Dick Gherman dropkicking. The Presidents haven't needed extra points so far this season but a conversion or two might well make the difference between victory and defeat, tomorrow night.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old

Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time.

And the Doc means it hasn't much to do with age. There are old folks in our town who get a big kick out of seeing other people enjoy themselves—seems to keep them young in spirit, with a twinkle in their eyes!

And there are some others who resent the young folks going fishing; who feel that community games and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends.

They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures—like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing—it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our age is.

Marion To See 6-Man Grid Tilt

LaRue, Caledonia To Battle at Stadium Saturday Night in Sport's Local Debut.

A rapidly growing fall sport for small high schools—six-man football—will make its appearance at the Harding stadium Saturday night when Caledonia meets LaRue in a gridiron battle between two undefeated county high schools.

At first glance the abbreviated game looks just like regulation football except that fewer players participate. The fundamentals, blocking, tackling, kicking, passing, punting are the same, but there are several differences.

The field is smaller, measuring 80 yards long and 120 feet wide compared to a regular gridiron's 360 yard length and 160 foot width.

The player receiving the snap from center cannot carry the ball over the scrimmage line until he makes a clear pass to another player.

The offensive team must make 15 yards in four downs.

Any player on either team may pick up a fumble and run with it.

A conversion by kicking counts two points, only one by running. And a field goal counts four points. Goal posts are wider and lower.

On offense, a six-man team must have at least three men on the line. Variations of regular offensive formations—the T, single wing, and short punt—are used in six-man football. Most teams use a man under center since an indirect pass to a ball carrier must be made before the ball can be carried over the line. Any man can receive a pass.

The Harding field will be cut down to six-man size by placing a cloth line 40 feet in from the east sideline and using the 10-yard lines as goal lines. Conversions will be kicked over the regular goal posts in the game Saturday night.

FOOTBALL ECONOMICS

By The Associated Press

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 9—The performance of the Hastings High school football team has a lot to do with the cost of living for Hastings teen-agers. If the team wins on Friday nights, the price of ice cream sundaes in one Hastings drug store on Saturday drops five cents (to 20 cents). For each touchdown made by the home team another penny comes off the price.

'Battle Royal Tonight'

There will be plenty of action at the Marion Armory when Sammy "Red Devil" Kohen, Eddie Williams, Billy Weidner, Herb Parks and Gorilla Pogi climb through the ropes tonight for their battle royal. It would be hard to find five better grapplers for a battle royal. All names are well known to Marion grapple fans but Parks, who is Canadian lightheavyweight champ and hasn't been around for two or three years and Gorilla Pogi, another well known name who hasn't shown in Marion for four years. The first man to lose in this batle royal gets his expense money and a shower; the next two to lose come back in a forty-five minute semi-final and semi-money; the last two to survive this mat massacre get the top money and wrestle the two hour main event. A ten minute prelim will start the show at 8:30. No advance in prices. Call 2745 after six for your best ringside seats.—Adv.

Football Chatter From Big 9 Camp

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—A line on the Big Nine:

In Illinois' first game against Army, at Memorial stadium in Champaign 18 years ago, a youngster named Doug Mills (now Illini athletic director) booted a 24-yard field goal that helped the Illini win 17-7. . . . Illinois also scored on an eight yard runback of a punt . . . . Army kicked from its end zone, the ball going almost straight up, landing on the 20 and bouncing back to the 8 where center Eddie Kaway scooped it up and dashed across. . . . In four games between the two teams to date, each has won twice and there never had been more than two-touchdown difference in the score.

* * *

Michigan's affable freshman coach, Wally Weber, already has 100 speaking engagements lined up for his annual post-season tour. . . . Jim Brieske, the Wolverines' automatic place-kicker, who is the third leading scorer in the Big Nine with 14 conversions, says he will outdo all his previous marks this season because he's finally found a pair of football shoes that really fit . . .

* * *

Records since 1928 indicate the Minnesota - Northwestern game Saturday should be close . . . . Since the series was placed on an annual basis 19 years ago, each team has won eight games while two were tied . . . . Three times the victory was decided by one point and four times by not more than one touchdown . . . . Jules Seigle, Wildcat back who caught the pass that beat U.C.L.A., spent the entire week prior to the game on a reserve team that did nothing but run through Uclan plays against the varsity.

* * *

Notre Dame's place-kicking artist, Fred Earley, and Johnny Lujack, who holds the ball for him, were finalists in the university's bridge tournament last spring.

If Michigan comes through in the Big Nine as predicted in pre-season forecasts, much of the Wolverines' success will be credited to Bob Chappuis, 184-pound left halfback from Toledo. The veteran back is Michigan's big offensive threat this fall on the ground and in the air.

Chappuis Shines

In the opening game against Michigan State, Chappuis scored three touchdowns on ground plays after setting up the scores with forward passes. Last season Chappuis set an individual Western Conference ground-gaining record.

That North Carolina will be a strong contender for national championship honors was evident when the Tarheels beat Georgia 14-7.

Pupa Attacks

Charley (Choo-Choo) Justice was billed as North Carolina's triple threat but the Bulldogs shackled him. However, Big Walt Pupa, 200-pound fullback, took up the attack. He tossed a 45-yard forward for the winning touchdown.

In addition, while Georgia concentrated on keeping Justice harnessed, Pupa passed and ran the North Carolina eleven superbly. The combination of Pupa and Justice will be difficult to throttle this season.

Layne Shifts

Bobby Layne, the nation's top forward passer in the percentage tables last season, has served notice this season that his shift from tailback to T formation quarterback has not stalled his offensive ability.

Bobby paced the Longhorn attack in Texas' first two games, and his passing game clicked to perfection. He also demonstrated an ability to keep the Texas attack rolling from his new spot back of the center. The 20-year-old senior handed-off to the running backs with skill. A solid 200-pounder, Layne stands six, one. This is his fourth year as a Longhorn star.

Roger Bacon Player Ousted; 15 Others Strike in Protest

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9—Bernie Roeckers, 17-year-old erstwhile quarterback of the Roger Bacon High school football teams, says he hopes he can "patch up" his dismissal from the squad yesterday which resulted in a "strike" of 15 teammates.

Rev. Andrew Fox, principal of the boys' Catholic school, said all senior and several junior members of the grid squad refused to dress for practice yesterday afternoon in protest against barring of Roeckers, a senior, from participating in any of the school's sport activities for "disrespectful remarks" allegedly directed to grid Coach Emmett Crowe during Tuesday's practice session.

Roeckers said he was "pretty broken up over the suspension" but added:

"I sure hope I can patch it up between Father Fox, the coach and me, not only because of just playing football but because of my family."

Father Fox said Roger Bacon would play Dayton, Ky., High school Friday despite the fact several key players were among one third of the squad involved in the protest.

IRON MAJOR'S WIDOW DIES

NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 9—Mrs. Florence E. Cavanaugh, widow of Frank Cavanaugh, former noted football coach at Dartmouth, Boston college and, Fordham and known as the "Iron Major" after heroic service in the First World war, died last night.

GETS COACHING POST

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9—George D. Smith, University of Cincinnati football star in the early '30's, will resign as physical education director for Williams Y. M. C. A. here Oct. 25 to become director of athletics for Glendale's public school system. Smith coached at Erlanger, Ky., high school before accepting the Y. M. C. A. post in 1933.

INJURED AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS—A passenger in a car operated by Vincent E. Vedvig of Lake Mills, Ia., was treated for a bruised knee in a physician's office Wednesday after the Iowa car had been included in a traffic accident with a city truck operated by Elmer C. Baker. Vedvig told police Baker turned onto a side street without giving a signal.

Two Bands To Take Part In Program at Football Game

"Band Night" is to be observed at this week's Harding High school football game with Lima South at the Harding stadium Friday night. The Marion Athletic Association has set aside this night as band recognition night, Homer Huffman, director of the Harding band, announced.

The visiting Lima South team will be accompanied here by their school band which will give its show during the first part of the halftime intermission.

To open their part of the show, the Harding band, in red and black uniforms, will give a fanfare combined with a drill in which the band will march down the field with the various rows revolving.

A highlight of the Harding performance, which will be different from any formations ever done by the band, will be the forming of a scene dramatizing the song, "The Old Lamplighter." The idea for the show and the lighting in the scene was promoted by D. A. Brown of the Brown Radio Service, and properties were prepared by Levi Welch, superintendent of school buildings. The vocal solo of the song will be by Jim Rea, a member of the senior choir, with band accompaniment.

To complete the halftime intermission program, the two bands, Harding and Lima South, will combine to form the letters, "LS" and play the Lima South school song, in tribute to the visitors, and then "HH" and play the Harding Alma Mater song for the home fans.

After this, short talks will be give by Sherman Clark, president of the Lima South High Band Parents Association, John P. Lacey, past president of the Harding Band and Orchestra Parents Association, speaking for James Lytle, first vice president of the club who will be unable to attend, and L. G. Jones, supervisor of vocal music in the city schools. They will be introduced by E. E. Holt, superintendent of Marion schools.

Preceding the game, there will be a fanfare and the presentation of colors. The Harding band will spell "HOWDY" to the Marion fans and then to the visitors, and will toss their caps and give a salute to each side. The two bands combined, and directed by Charles Louma, director of the Lima South band, will play The National Anthem for the flag raising.

It is estimated that there are 2,600,000 acres devoted to rubber plantations in 1938.

COURTRIGHT SPEAKS AT Y'S MEN'S DINNER

Tells Club of Study of Conditions in England.

John P. Courtright, vice president in charge of sales for the Marion Power Shovel Co., was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Y's Mens' Service club Wednesday.

Mr. Courtright discussed his recent trip to Europe where, at the request of the British ministry of works, he made a survey of the English strip mining industry. He spoke of the regimentation and the "controlled" economy in which the British people are living today. He said lack of proper food presents their greatest problem—meat being practically non-existent, citrus fruits and milk being given only to children and expectant mothers, and fish and potatoes representing the only unrationed foods.

According to Mr. Courtright, the Socialist government gives little or no freedom to the farmer—the latter is told how many cattle, hogs, or chickens he can raise and if he should slaughter any of his stock for his own use, he forfeits all ration points for his family for a year. The speaker further stated that when slaughtering is permitted, the meat immediately becomes the property of the government, at a reasonable price of course, and after harvest the only part of the crop which the farmer can keep for feed is the grain chaff.

During his talk, Mr. Courtright described the English as "good substantial, liberty-loving people—forced into a serious situation" and repeatedly stressed the opinion that he was confident they would be able to work their way out of their present difficulties.

Don Yoder, of the Howard Swink Advertising Agency, was a guest of the club as were three Air Scouts, John McCreight, Richard Wade and Gene Koons. The Scouts were present in recognition of their work in parking automobiles at the Model Airplane meet sponsored by the club in September.

Report on Store Contest Given at Retail Meeting

A report on the recent "misplaced merchandise" contest was given at the meeting of the Retail Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at the Y.M.C.A.

Plans for the band festival, tentatively scheduled for this fall, have been postponed indefinitely. Due to heavy football schedules of the county schools contacted, only a few bands were free to enter. A discussion was held on the possibility of holding the festival in the spring.

Announcement was made that since the festival is canceled, there will be a special activity planned for the Christmas season again this year.

Round table discussion topic was "store-customer relations."

The Holstein cow was imported into the United States in 1857 from Holland.

BOWLING SCORES

Roseberry's high 220 single game helped Lima Packing defeat the Standard Oil bowlers in the Home Bowling league rolling on the Marion Recreation alleys Monday night. His series of 590 was high among the three game totals in that league. Only other 200 bowler was Barber with a 217.

Margie Krausz led the way in the Monday Nite Ladies league bowling on the Palace Recreation alleys. She bowled a 206 single game for a high series total of 514. Other high series totals were turned in by Pearl Snyder, 487, Helen Engeroff, 468, and Mabel Ernsberger, 458.

In all, 26 women turned in single games of over 150, including Smart, 183, P. Snyder, 168, 183, Ernsberger, 177, Leffler, 171, Cheney, 176, Engeroff, 160, 164, Fetter, 172, Hodge, 183, and Krausz, 166, 206.

In the Ohio Public Service league bowling on the Palace alleys, Ed Christman and L. Larsen tied for the top single game with a 203. Other 200 bowlers among the men in that league were Schnitzler, 201, Ulsh, 201, and Lytle, 200. Ulsh's 535 topped the men's series totals.

Eve Applegett rolled the high single game among the women in the Ohio Public Service league, a 149. Her 422 topped the women's series totals.

Pittsburgh Sisters Get Jail Sentences As Common Scolds

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9—A phonograph record and a rarely-invoked law were combined in Allegheny county court to bring jail sentences to three sisters, charged with being "common scolds."

Helen Cznosko, 36, and her sister, Betty, 26, of West Natrona, were given 13 to 23 months in Muncy industrial home for women yesterday, while the third sister, Josephine, 23, drew three months in the county jail.

The phonograph record—played in the courtroom—was produced by Francis Pastor Jr., who said it was made by means of a recording machine in the doorway of the Pastor home during an argument involving the three sisters and Pastor's father over shrubbery in the Cznosky yard. The elder Pastor charged the sisters used "vile and abusive remarks."

Assistant District Attorney James Philpotts explained the charge of common scold can be brought against women only. A similar charge brought against a man a year ago was dismissed, he said.

Officers Installed By Music Groups

Officers for the 1947-1948 season of the Marion Juvenile Lecture Recital club were installed at a candle-light installation service Monday evening in the varsity room of the Y. M. C. A.

Taking office were: Phyllis Corbin, president; Anita Porter, vice president; and Sarah Meister, treasurer. Shirley Young, secretary, was unable to be present and will be installed at a later date. The service was conducted by Sally Schneider, vice president of the club for the 1946-1947 season, assisted by Mrs. Ralph E. Mills, counselor of the club. Sally Schneider will also serve as scrapbook chairman for the club.

New members welcomed into the club are Marilyn Porter, Mary Margaret Williams, Patti Kepling, Tommy Hayman, Sally Waddell, Evelyn Price, and Georgianne Zuck.

A parliamentary law drill was conducted by Mrs. Mills who also presented the study topic, "Stephen Collins Foster and His Dog Tray."

Tommy Hayman served as program chairman, and the program was given by Caroline Hoch, Lenora Dune, Sally Ann Knickle, Sarah Meister, Bennie Bechtel, and Marjorie Umbaugh.

It was announced that the annual fall conference of junior and juvenile music clubs of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs will be held in Marion at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school Sunday, Oct. 19, at 2 p. m. All members of the Juvenile club are urged to attend and an invitation was also extended to their parents. The members and parents planning to attend are to notify Mrs. Mills not later than Oct. 10 for reservations. A program will be given by members of the district. Following the program a tea will be held at 4 p. m. for everyone attending the conference.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mills. Guests included Mrs. M. B. Porter, Mrs. C. E. Williams, Mrs. R. L. Gettman, Mrs. Marvin Weston, and Mrs. L. V. Knickle.

New Members Added By Music Club Board

When the executive board of Lecture-Recital club met Tuesday at Hotel Harding, names of new chorus members and soloists were added. Mrs. Clara Campbell presided. Announcement was made of a junior music club district conference in Marion at Edison Junior High school Oct. 19, by Mrs. Karl Schell, district chairman. Mrs. Harry Mautz of Marion is state junior club chairman. A senior music clubs district conference was announced for Oct. 25 in Delaware.

Mrs. John Lacey reported four new members of Junior Lecture-Recital club, and Mrs. Ralph Mills reported seven new members of Juvenile club. A letter from the national music chairman was read by Mrs. Mildred Wills. Announcement was made of a meeting of the study department of the club for Oct. 27, "Music in the Schools." New mebers accepted include Mrs. Virgil Curl and Mrs. Melvina S. Keeler, piano soloists, and Mrs. George Beam, Miss Thurza Hornbeck, Miss Joan Mossbarger, Miss Betty Steinman and Miss Maxine Winland, chorus members.

Fire Chief Speaks At Meeting of Jr. C. of C.

Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt spoke on fire prevention at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting held at the Republican headquarters Tuesday.

George Wingett was appointed chairman of the fire prevention committee and Millard Djehl was named head of the "get-out-and-vote" committee in a business session following the talk.

A meeting of all committee heads will be held at the Chamber of Commerce offices next Tuesday night.

TEAMSTERS GET RAISE

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9—Thomas E. Flynn, international vice president of the AFL Teamsters, said today a two-year agreement providing 15 cents an hour wage increases and other benefits for 25,000 truck drivers in 12 central states would go into effect next Nov. 15. The contract was concluded in Chicago July 15 by the Teamsters' Central States Drivers' council. Flynn said the 15 cents an hour pay-hike would bring the scale to $1.32 an hour.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

NOEL evidently had made an unconditional surrender to Dr. Twitchell's ultimatum, and although I knew that Mary's keen perceptions and logical mind would not keep her always in her present exalted mood of happiness, I also knew that it was for me to bolster her blissful mood, not to dampen it.

"What do I think of it?" I echoed her question. "There can be but one answer to that. It is the perfect solution for the problem which has been troubling you. All cause for worry on your part has been banished. All you have to do now is to get to work on your lines."

Accusing Forefinger

She wrinkled her nose at me, then leveled an accusing forefinger.

"If you don't get busy with that magic typewriter of yours," she said, "I'll soon run out of lines."

"That won't hurt you," I told her. "It will give you time to work up your part and attain your own ideal of perfection in it. But," I added hastily, as I saw her face shadow, "don't worry. You shall have more lines."

Mindful of Katharine's caution, I did not specify how many more lines she would have, and was troubled because the shadow did not lift from her face at my answer.

But her next words showed me that her volatile mind had gone far afield from her lines in my play.

One Thing

"Do you know, Auntie Madge," she said abruptly, "if it weren't for one thing, connected with Noel, I'd be sitting on top of the world, swinging my feet."

"Do you want to tell me about it?" I asked cautiously.

"You bet I do!" she said; "chiefly because I couldn't mention it to anybody else, even to him."

"I am all ears." I quoted one of her own expressions with a smile, which she did not return.

"It's just this," she said. "You know those royal rages and those broody moods of Noel's, his inheritance from his father's family?"

Unspoken Query

I tried to keep my face a poker one, but the unspoken query, "What now?" was caroming around my brain. Aloud, however, I only said; "Yes?" with an upward, encouraging inflection.

"Well, he's conquered the rages; had done it before I was taken ill. He knew that I never would consent to have a child if he couldn't control those rages."

She broke off with an abashed look at me.

"I—I shouldn't be telling you this," she said guiltily.

"In ordinary circumstances, no," I told her truthfully. "But, as it happens, it is most fortunate that you have spoken of this, because it fits in with something I have to tell you." Her eyes quickened with interest, then shadowed again as she went on with her plaint.

Can See Signs

"But those broody, heartbroken moods are continuing," she said. "I can see the signs of them, although he's been sweetness and light itself when he's been here with me. I wonder if those will go on. They would be as bad for a child as the rages."

"I am certain they won't continue," I said with emphasis, reflecting that if Philip Veritzen did not reduce his son to size with his revelation of the truth about those royal inherited rages, Dicky and I would do our best to "tailor him to fit."

Mary's head went up, and she looked at me with keen, alert eyes.

"You have inside information," she said. "Don't be a meanie holdcrout. Come on! Give!"

Rages Not Inherited

"It's simply a talk I had with your revered father-in-law," I said, and proceeded to tell her how I had shown Phil that his royal rages were not inherited but fostered by himself in order to preserve his own pride in his connection, even by "bar sinister," with the royal house of Transvania.

"He meant to tell Noel the truth tonight," I said, "but when I found that Noel was to have an interview with Dr. Twitchell, I persuaded Phil to promise he wouldn't say a word to Noel about the rages until I gave him a green light to go ahead."

I suddenly found myself enveloped in one of Mary's enthusiastic bear hugs.

The Last Straw

"You wise, thoughtful darling!" she apostrophized. "I think that would have been literally the last straw for Noel. He'll have enough to swallow from old Doc Twitchell's bottle. His papa's highball would have knocked him for two goals.

"But as usual you've turned down the beds for everybody, and put the electric heating pads in place," she went on, and then she put a most surprising question, for Mary.

"Do you think anybody would care if I called it a day, and sneaked off to bed? I—I guess I'm getting the letdown, now that all my troubles are over. I want nothing so much as to go to sleep."
